WILMINGTON - Wednesday evening, Wilmington school officials made the decision to close the North Intermediate School for two days.

Town workers were present at the school Tuesday and Wednesday drilling holes for Net Day when the workers drilled through vinyl asbestos tile. This was done while students were present in the building.

"It was a mistake that we drilled the holes where we did, but fortunately no harm resulted," said town manager Michael Caira.

Wilmington has an A.H.E.R.A. Plan on each public building, this plan describes the material contents of each public building. This plan is available to the town to be consulted before any building alterations are made. "I presume it was not consulted" said Caira. The Town Crier has learned that the plan was not consulted.

The town could be fined as a result of the action. John MacAuley, an

Selectmen

First time home buyers program approved

By SEAN DEVLIN

WILMINGTON - Last Monday, the Board of Selectmen approved a proposed first time homebuyers program presented by the Planning and Conservation Department. The program, which offers a zero percent interest deferred payment loan, is designed to aid prospective homebuyers who earn less than 80 percent of the area medium income. Applicants who qualify for the Housing Partnership loan may receive either five percent of the purchase price of the home, or $6,500, depending on which is less.

In addition to the homebuyers program, the department presented the board with an application for the Ready Resource Fund Grant for fiscal year 1997, which was also approved.

The community development fund currently assists some of Wilmington's small businesses and microenterprises by offering attractive, low interest loans over three to five-year terms. Over the next year, the department hopes to achieve its goal of issuing six for-profit small business loans, which are estimated at $20,000 each, and five microenterprise loans at $6,000 each.

According to Planning and Conservation Director Lynn Duncan, the loan program has been a success thus far.

"The businesses that have received the loans are currently doing well. There have been no defaults or late payments to date," said Duncan.

A letter concerning the status of the contract negotiations with the North East Solid Waste Committee (NESWC) was read by Town Manager Michael Caira. The letter notified the board of Acton's refusal to agree to either of NESWC's contracts. A condition of the amended agreements for 2005 and 2015 states that all of the 23 NESWC communities must choose one of the agreements or neither will be available, causing the towns to remain bound to their existing contracts.

Olin Corporation property

Contamination site hearing Monday

by Ed Larkin

WILMINGTON - Olin Corporation presented the supplemental Phase II investigation dealing with the contamination issues on their site at 54 Eames Street to the Board of Selectmen Monday night. They also invited town residents to a public information session on Tuesday from 1 to 8 p.m. at the factory site.

The final Phase II report which is required by the state contains the Olin Corporation's assessment of site conditions. Olin hired outside contractors to oversee the testing of water and other contamination. The contractors involved in the testing and evaluations of water must be certified by the state for competency.

The highlights of the Phase II site investigation:

*The dense brine mass of chemicals has come to rest in bedrock topographic lows of 30 to 120 feet below the ground surface in the bedrock valley west of the Olin facility.

*Town well water (to the west of the site) continued to meet drinking water standards.

*The dense layer in the deep groundwater does not currently present an unacceptable health risk to residential and commercial neighbors downgradient of the site.

*Ecological risks are limited to portions of ditch systems on the site.

"We have monitored the sentinel and municipal drinking water wells since June of '96 and compared it to the mandatory testing require by state law and found levels that vary little over the last 10 years," said Thomas P. O'Brien, Manager, Environmental Sites, for Olin Corporation.

The Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MDEP) monitors the Olin Corporation's ongoing efforts to clean up the site. Under Massachusetts General Law 21E and 310CMR, the Olin Corporation must follow guidelines and steps detailing their efforts to clean up the 53 acre site.

"Olin hires outside contractors to perform testing and studies. We ensure they follow the guidelines and continue to move forward to a solution," said Valerie Thompson, Environmental Analyst, for the MDEP.

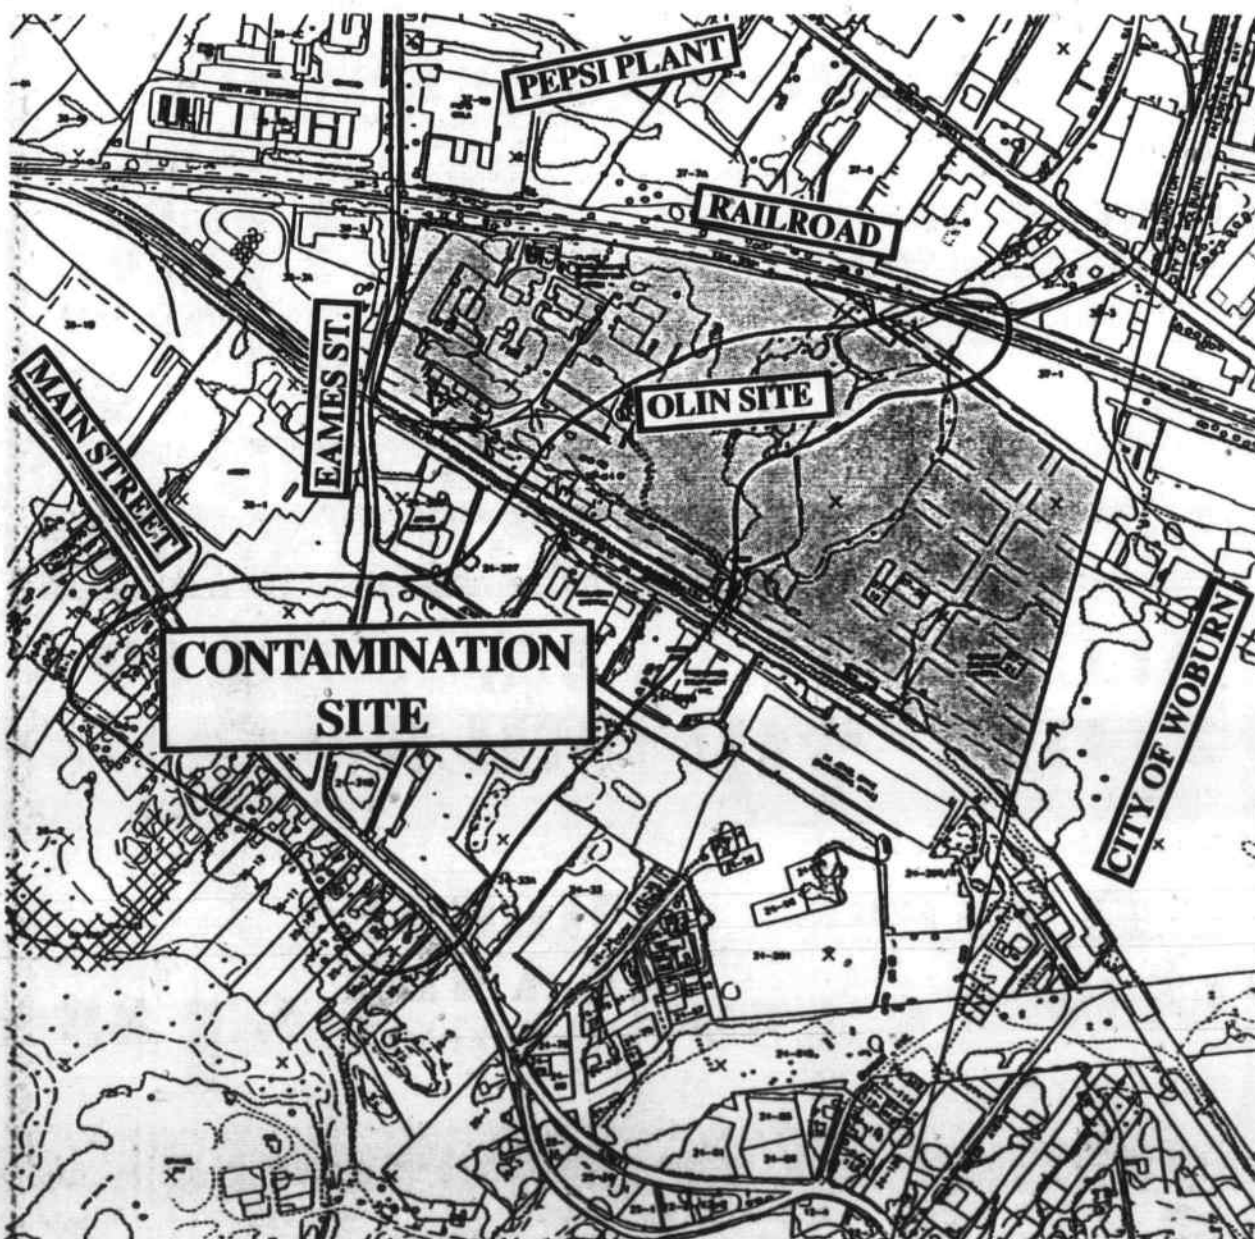

The MDEP is reviewing the final draft of the Phase II investigation report. In the meantime, Olin will continue interim remedial measures and start conducting Phase III remedial alternative evaluation (remedy selection). After approval, Olin will conduct Phase IV design and implementation of selected remedial alternatives.

"Olin Corporation is committed to continue monitoring sentinel and municipal drinking water wells, conducting periodic community updates, identify site development alternatives, and implement a selected site remedy after the research is complete," said Steve Morrow, Principal Environmental Specialist for Olin Corporation.

Olin Corporation is the last in the long list of owners. The facility was constructed in 1953 and was operated by National Poly-chemicals, Inc. (NPI), from 1953 to 1968. NPI was owned by three different corporations: American Biltrite Rubber Company, Fisons Limited, and Fisons Corporation, now known as NOR-AM Chemical Company. In 1968 Stepan Chemical Company brought NPI. Olin purchased the factory from Stepan in 1980 and closed the facility in 1986.

The facility was used to manufacture chemical blowing agents, stabilizers, antioxidants, and other specialty chemicals.

Watershed cleanup this weekend

WILMINGTON - Residents are invited to take part in a watershed cleanup, scheduled for the weekend of September 26-28. Volunteers may register from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, the 27th, in the lower level library parking lot off Wildwood Street. They will be assigned to several areas around town to pick up trash, litter, and other debris from the town's brooks and wetlands.

The cleanup coincides with Coastweeks, an international celebration aimed at raising awareness of the need to preserve and protect ocean and inland Coastlines. People in 43 states and more than 68 countries world wide are expected to participate in Coastweeks, 1997 events, which run from September 20 to October 13.

The local event is sponsored by the Wilmington Conservation Commission, the Garden Club, the League of Women Voters, and the Headwaters Stream Team of the Ipswich River Watershed Association. Wilmington's Department of Public Works is providing garbage bags and work gloves for participants, as well as trash collection from the targeted sites.

On Friday members of the Wilmington Garden Club will concentrate their efforts on the pond at Rotary park. Other groups, including neighbors, are encouraged to select a spot for cleaning during the weekend.

Anyone knowing of a pond or stream in their neighborhood which needs cleaning, or for more information on getting involved, call Suzanne Sullivan at 694-9043 or Martha Stevenson at 658-5488.

SWAPPING SECURITIES

Many people are familiar with real estate swaps in order to defer paying taxes on capital gains; exchanging one property for another with potential for further gain. A similar strategy is being used to pull money out of appreciated securities without paying taxes now. One method uses the short sale "against the box," in which the owner sells shares borrowed from the broker while officially holding onto his own shares. In some cases, favored clients can tap into some of the proceeds to create a more balanced portfolio. Another equity swap scenario permits the investor to enter into a contract with a bank or brokerage in which he or she retains ownership of the security while the firm assumes risk for several years. The investor assumes the same risk for a package assortment of securities. Or the investor assumes the same risk for a package assortment of securities. Or the investor may pool appreciated securities with others in the same position, with gains distributed pro rata as holding are sold. Can you put off paying taxes on your gains? Discuss your options with the knowledgeable accountants at

School spirit or PSAT score

By COLLEEN MURPHY

WILMINGTON - On October 18, 1997, the majority of juniors and some sophomores will be taking PSAT's at Wilmington High. Students will report at WHS at 8 a.m., and testing will begin at approximately 8:30. The test takes about two hours.

This test is extremely important to anyone who is college bound, because it not only prepares you for the SAT's, but also could make you eligible for scholarships depending on your score.

There is, however, a problem that has arisen. The night before the PSAT's WHS is holding a Homecoming dance. This is a problem because students can't be expected to show school spirit by going to the Homecoming dance if they have to get up early the next morning to take a major test. Staying out late the night before the PSAT's would cut down on the amount of sleep, which could also effect the concentration and score of students taking the test.

The date of the PSAT's cannot be changed, but the homecoming dance can. My question is, why couldn't Wilmington High School just change the date of the dance? If they could hold it on Saturday night, as opposed to Friday night, it wouldn't come in conflict with the PSAT's, and in my opinion, it would make more sense. It would make more sense because the football players, cheerleaders and band members all have to be at Wilmington High School early on the morning of Homecoming to prepare for the football game. If the football players are out late the night before at a dance, wouldn't that effect their concentration? Couldn't that also effect the score of the game? Staying out late could also effect the performance of the band and the cheerleaders.

Also, the night of the Homecoming dance, several sports teams have games which make it harder for the members of those teams to attend the dance.

I just don't believe it is fair that students should have to pick the event that is most important to them because school spirit and PSAT's are both important to a school and its students. Therefore, if the problem is addressed to the school maybe something can be arranged so that students don't have to choose between the two.

Let's hope that in the future, Wilmington High will plan important events so that they don't come in conflict with other important happenings and so that no one will suffer as a result.

Safety by the numbers

TEWKSBURY - The Town of Tewksbury wants to help area residents take a step toward helping themselves by making it easier for emergency vehicles to find their houses. When one calls 911, and needs assistance, if they don't have house numbers on their home, it can take the responders extra time to find them, which in some cases could be the difference between life and death.

Recently at the annual town meeting the people voted in a bylaw stating you must have house numbers on your home, with this in mind and National Fire Prevention Week right around the corner, October 5-11, the Town of Tewksbury and the Tewksbury Fire Department will be sponsoring House Number Awareness Day Sunday, October 5.

Any Tewksbury resident needing house numbers can purchase them at Tewksbury Paint and Hardware, 853 Main St. at a discounted price. When installing these numbers on your home please keep a few things in mind; they should be on the front of your home, not on the door and visible from the street. Please make sure that nothing will obstruct them from view, like flags or flower pots. So remember take a step to help yourself save precious time, you may need it some day.

Flemmings School rich in town's history

by CAPT. LARZ NEILSON

TEWKSBURY - On September 21, Tewksbury officials, school department and others, including State Representative James Miceli, with several hundred interested persons, in which the Tewksbury Historical Society was included, observed a special holiday at the Ella Flemings School in Tewksbury.

Ella Flemings devoted her life to education in Tewksbury. She would have been 114 years old on Tuesday, September 22. How better could one choose to observe the abilities of a lady who spent a lifetime in the schools of Tewksbury, and for whom the school was named than to observe that holiday on her 114th birthday.

There were speeches, and there were photographers. How better can one tell of the work performed by the lady than to have a brief biographical history of her career in the Tewksbury schools?

Ella taught many years in the school which is named for her. This writer is using some notes prepared by Bill Pavao of the Tewksbury Historical Society to portray the life of Tewksbury's number one teacher. Mr. Pavao has plans on the writing of a book on the subject of her life work.

The school house has undergone a tremendous restoration. It is now good for another century, and that second century will be spent on events which will be important to Tewksbury in one way or another.

There is now a bronze plaque on the front wall of the building. It is now a place where social events of public importance can be carried on, for another century or so. The Tewksbury Historical Society now holds its meetings in that building. Can anyone think of a place which would be better?

The notebook of Mr. Pavao starts in 1859 in School No 3 of Tewksbury where Ella did her first teaching. And in September of that year separate entrances were made for the boys and the girls attending that school. The outhouses, then in use, were better defined, and the playgrounds were partitioned by high fences.

In 1861 the Town Meeting of Tewksbury voted to have the Constitution of the United States read at least once in every year in the public schools.

In 1867 teachers in School Districts 2 and 3 were to get $25 more than teachers in other districts.

In 1872 the school was whitewashed.

In 1875, by town vote, the town will furnish water for the school. The selectmen were authorized to order a well and a pump.

In 1878 a Roll of Honor for students who were neither absent nor tardy, was started by Ella Flemings.

In 1884 there were to be 36 weeks in the school year.

In 1885 Common Sense ventilation was provided for each school.

In 1886 the North School was listed for the first time.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1887, Nelly Boutwell was paid $102 for teaching.

In 1888 there were eight district schools in Tewksbury. The Town Meeting, in November voted that the Advanced School at the center be a High School.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1890 Ella was paid $315 for teaching. There were eight district schools and one high school.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1892 Ella was paid $342.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1894, gas lighting was started in the school.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1906, Ella was paid $456 salary for the year. She had 40 pupils. The janitor was paid $8.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1908, Ella left, for a position in the Foster School. The previous March she had made arrangements for an entertainment and sale in the Spaulding Hall of the Foster School, by the pupils; $50 was realized, and the money was used for improving the school grounds.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1909, it was noted: "Due to the untiring zeal and leadership of Ella Flemings the lawn in the Foster School has been much improved in the past two years."

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1909, Ella Flemings received $480.

In the year ending Feb. 1, 1912 Ella Flemings received $503. The school was moved and enlarged and sanitary conditions were greatly improved. A new boiler was purchased to lend additional space. Land was purchased from Eliza Miller and George Trill when the building was moved. Ella was at the Foster School.

On Feb. 1, 1915, Ella was at the Foster School. She was paid $534. She started a school lunch program which fed 30 pupils during the winter period.

Ella Flemings died in 1938. Bdm on September 22, 1863, she was 75 at the time of her death. Thus it was no mistake that the Ella Flemings Day just observed occurred on September 21, 1997, for that was the 114th anniversary of her birth.

Letters to the editor

All that smells is not fair game

Dear Larz:
Autumn is a time of year when animals might be on the lookout for new food sources. This fact has reminded me that out of consideration for our woodland neighbors we should all remember to put covers on garbage cans and to close our dumpsters to make it easier for our furry friends to resist the temptation of the emanating smells.

Safety issues for children can also be involved. I saw two preschool children, just last month balancing on the edges of a dumpster and moving on to play inside. I reported it to the land manager who now keeps it closed. On behalf of the animals, who cannot speak for themselves, I thank you.

Eileen Tannian

Make a Difference Day is coming

Dear Larz:
My name is Lynn Manning. As a Brownie Girl Scout leader and a member of the Friendship Circle at Tewksbury Congregational Church, I participated in "Make A Difference Day" last year.

The girls in Brownie Girl Scout Troop 1095 spent a Saturday afternoon raking leaves for elderly residents. This proved to be a very hard and rewarding work for the girls. The girls were then treated to a spaghetti dinner by the Youth Fellowship of Tewksbury Congregational Church.

At the same time members of the Friendship Circle raked and weeded gardens on the church grounds and were also treated to dinner. Other groups including Boy Scout troop 47 picked up trash along town roadways and school grounds and did an assortment of other chores needed in our town.

Organizations throughout our town are being encouraged to participate in some way in this year's "Make A Difference Day." Copies of USA Weekend's "Make a Difference Day" brochure are available to give you more ideas of how you can help. Contact Lynn Manning at 657-7339 or Devra Johnson at 640-0139 for more details or call the Web site www.usaweekend.com.

Cordially,
Lynn Watson Manning

Just a little neighborhood get together

Marjorie Rd. party turns 10

By MIKE VITALE

WILMINGTON - It's been a tradition now for a decade as the tenth annual Marjorie Road Block Party was held last Saturday. Paul and Connie Lee of 16 Marjorie Road are the hosts for the event, and an incredible 150-200 people come every year. "When we moved here, nobody was saying anything to each other," said Connie Lee. "I just thought it was ridiculous, and so we started this."

The event is something that neighbors look forward to all year. Everyone who attends is responsible to bring a snack to put on the food table. There is a water balloon fight, a football game, and this year kids could make their own sunglasses. Guests begin arriving between four and five o'clock and don't leave until about eleven. "We have people come from a couple of different streets around here, but it's mainly Marjorie Road," said Lee.

And the Lee family certainly have something to celebrate about this year. Paul and Connie's second adoption came through and their new ten month old baby came home about three weeks ago. Their other adopted daughter, Cassy, is three and a half. Both children were adopted from China, and the process for that is two years. "They're doing beautifully," said Lee, smiling.

Although the skies looked gloomy Saturday afternoon, the block party went on as scheduled. "We haven't had to postpone. We're crossing our fingers watching the weather channel."

"We have such a great neighborhood. Everyone loves the block party," said Lee. "We were thinking of moving, but we just can't pull ourselves away. We're just going to put an addition on the house."

Wilmington senior topics

WILMINGTON - Sunday, September 21 was the last day of summer. It was a pretty good summer this year. The weather was warm but not unbearable. We had very little rain, not good for those needing rain to produce their vegetables from their gardens. We did receive a good amount of sun, that pleased those who enjoy outside activities, bike riding, walking, swimming, tennis, golf and baseball.

Now we say goodbye to summer and welcome in the fall season with all its colors. The days will be getting shorter, and the weather will be giving us a little chill. Our outside activities will slowdown. Will that mean we will have to sit in front of the television and wait until spring and summer return. No, now is the time to go to your senior citizen center where you can join in the many activities available to keep your mind and body healthy and active.

No matter what our age, exercise is very important to all. We have an excellent exercise class instructed by Al LaValle. He will put you through a strenuous routine of exercise for one hour on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 to 11 a.m.

If you prefer to do your exercise through dancing, we have a well attended dance class on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 3. Learn some new line dances, or if you never danced, learn to Fox Trot, Waltz or Polka. The instructor, Marguerite Cavanaugh has all kinds of patience, and is eager to give help to any senior who wants it. Before you know it, you will be dancing like a professional.

Busy all the time?

If you are a person who has to keep busy all the time, you better join, any of a number of the activity classes available. If it is using hammers, sanders, drills or planes, you should be joining the shop class. The instructor is Joe Filipowicz. There is nothing he can't make; small toys for grandchildren or wooden articles for the home. When you see his work, you will want to learn. He is a very talented person and loves to teach others everything he knows about making a beautiful article out of a piece of wood. His class is on Thursday's from 9 a.m. to noon.

Many seniors love the ceramic class. This is a popular class instructed by Carol Hulburt, a professional ceramic teacher. If you enjoy working with paints, you will love this class, every Wednesday morning from 9 a.m. to noon.

Another class many seniors enjoy is the craft class. Those who have gone into a craft store and admired the many articles, wondering how you could make them yourself, this is your class on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon.

A class I love and admire is the work the students in this class do is the art class every Monday from 1 to 3 p.m. To take a piece of paper, a pencil and paint brush, draw a picture of something you have seen. After it is finished you marvel at what you have learned in the class under the teaching of George Webster, a talented artist himself.

Stay healthy

Keeping the body healthy is the theme of the excellent nutrition class held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Instructed by retired nurse Jean Webster, you will learn how to stay healthy by eating and preparing foods properly. Physical exercise can make the body strong after a heart attack, stroke, cancer or diabetes, but to complete the job you have to eat properly.

Jean knows how important it is to live on a healthy diet after taking a heart attack herself a few years ago.

A relatively new class you will enjoy is the sewing, knitting and crocheting class Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Teachers are Ann Latta and Marilyn McCarthy. If it is learning to sew, knit or crochet, you will have the teaching of two talented women; Ann and Marilyn. The dolls that Ann has dressed from head to toe and the knitted and crocheted articles Marilyn has made can be seen in the glass display cases at the center.

Classes are free

All of these classes are free to Wilmington residents 60 years and older. Not to take advantage of these dedicated talented volunteer instructors is depriving yourself of the opportunity to learn a hobby that will keep your mind and body healthy throughout the year. It will also give you the opportunity to meet new friends.

If you have selected to take one of the morning classes you can complete the day by going to the high school at 12:15 where you can enjoy a meal in the company of other seniors, get a full course meal, or a sandwich with a fruit cup, salad or soup and a desert for $1.

Keep yourself busy and healthy through the fall and winter months. You will feel 100 percent better when spring and summer arrive.

Upcoming activities

Monday, September 29, exercise class from 10 to 11 a.m., art class from 1 to 3 p.m., whist starting at noon.

Wednesday, October 1: Exercise class from 10 to 11 a.m., craft and ceramics classes from 9 a.m. to noon.

Thursday, October 2: Knitting, crocheting and sewing, 9 a.m. to noon, shop from 9 a.m. to noon, dancing from 1 to 3 p.m. nurse blood pressure checks start at 1:30 p.m.

Wilmington seniors

Art grants available

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Council for the Arts has announced that new applications for the awarding of grants are now available with a firm deadline of 3 p.m. Wednesday, October 15, 1997. Late or incomplete grant applications will not be accepted. Applications are available in the town hall and public library. They must be typewritten and filled out in triplicate; three copies are to be submitted to the Arts Council.

The local Cultural Council now stipulates that individuals may no longer apply for scholarships. However, organizations may continue to apply for scholarship funds and may award a scholarship to an individual. The organization must ensure a public benefit component from the scholarship recipient and must detail this information on the application form. The Wilmington Council will continue supporting the work of individual artists.

Performing Arts Students Series (PASS) applications may be obtained by teachers at their school offices. Since its inception in 1986 over 350,000 Massachusetts school children have attended music, dance, and theater performances through the PASS Program. Applicants must select a PASS approved artist or organization from the Mass. Cultural Resources Directory. The maximum cost of tickets for PASS participants is $7 per student.

All applications should be addressed to the Wilmington Council for the Arts, Town Hall, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA.

Bill Strob

A wonderful man with a giant heart

By MELISSA VALLERAND

WILMINGTON - Those who knew William Francis Strob of Wilmington loved and respected him, not only for dedication to his family, but also for his efforts in helping everyone whom he met. "He was a wonderful man with a giant heart" as his friend of twenty years, Jim Miceli said. Seven years ago, Mr. Strob was diagnosed with cancer. He fought the battle until the end when he entered into a coma. At 11:10 P.M. on September 9, he passed away with the assurance of his daughter, Naomi Landry saying that everything was going to be okay. He was eighty-five years old when he died, but he lead a life of the champions, one that will never be forgotten.

This man, whose nationality included German and English, had served two years in the army. After being stationed in Hawaii in the mid 40's he returned to the States to marry Olive Coleman, with whom he recently celebrated their 61st anniversary on September 2. During their marriage, they raised six children.

One of his hobbies was making little horses and cats out of wood for little neighborhood or family children. He loved to make them happy. Watching softball games or standing in the cold hockey arenas were two of the ways in which he showed his love and support for his family. He would often take his dog, Sparky, for rides to the grocery store. Mr. Strob loved to work around the house, taking special pride in his yard work. Every Christmas, he always put up his manger scene. He was one of those men who always kept himself busy, brightened other people's days up on a daily basis. His daughter, Naomi said "He was a good man, and he will be missed very much. It will take a long time."

Bill Strob had strong beliefs on how people should be treated. Helping the elderly was a profound concern he had. Politics was a way he could lend a hand, and he did so by being elected to the Silver Haired Legislature. As a member and a chairman, he worked relentlessly on trying to get extra housing for the Deming Way Extension. He believed that although senior citizens didn't always have a satisfactory say in the government, that they should still be able to live comfortably. Hence, he also worked in providing seniors with banking issues, as well as doing his best to help single young parents. He even donated a Desert Storm Flag to the Town of Wilmington in 1991.

Mr. Strob is remembered as never losing an election. His dedication and desire to help people will always prevail in people's memory of him.

On Friday, September 12, William Strob was waked at W.S. Cavanaugh and Sons Funeral Home. His funeral mass was on Saturday, September 13, at 10:00, and his body lies in the Wildwood Cemetery in Wilmington.

He is survived by his wife, Olive Strob, of Wilmington, as well as three of his six brothers and sisters. His six children include Ruth Ann Sampson, Jack Strob, Naomi Landry (all of Wilmington), Bill Strob, Tim Strob (both of Florida) and Joe Strob (of Reading). He had twenty grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

William Strob led a good life and will never be forgotten. Through his time here on Earth, he proved that though a man is only one man, he can make a difference.

He is involved in most, if not all of the student council's activities. David Ward was elected Vice-President. Dave is involved in SADD and the Wildcat News. This annual event will be held at Wilmington High School on Friday, October 24. The dance committee hopes that the dance will continue to be a success, as it has been in previous years.

The annual WHS Christmas Craft fair will again be held this year. This worthwhile, and fun event will be held on the Saturday after Thanksgiving, on Saturday, November 29. Coordinated by Vitale, Michael is looking for persons that would be interested in purchasing a spot for this year's Christmas Craft Fair. If interested, please contact Linda Peters, Student Council Advisor at Wilmington High School at (978) 694-6060. Spaces are $25 without a table, and $30 with a table. Please be aware that spaces are limited.

Finally, the student council has launched its first fund-raiser of the school year. We are collecting inkjet cartridges from printers. Once the cartridge is empty, many business and home computer users throw the cartridge away. Save them, and donate them to a worthwhile organization. The Student Council will be collecting these cartridges for at least the next month. If you would like to donate, please call Linda Peters at Wilmington High School at (978) 694-6060 to arrange a pick-up. The council is off to a great start, with four terrific officers leading the way.

Drama a new exciting class

By MIKE VITALE

WILMINGTON - Wilmington High School is offering many new, exciting courses this year for students. One of them is Drama, a class taught by English teacher Matthew Joyce. Drama I is offered first semester seventh period, and Drama II will run second semester during fifth period.

Even though the school year has just began, Mr. Joyce and his students are already in the process of putting together a play to run on September 30th during the double period. The play that they are putting on is "Under Milk Wood," a work originally by Dylan Thomas. "It is the story of small Welsh towns and the many different inhabitants there," said Michael Carr, member of the class and co-director of the play. Carr, a junior, is directing with Beth Capotosto, a junior as well.

"[As directors] we make the major decisions about the play such as blocking, character development, lighting, so on," said Carr.

The play will be put on for fellows students, however the class does not know which students will get to see it yet. "I'd love to get the whole senior class down here," said

classmate Kristin Flynn

The class has been rehearsing daily in preparation for the performance. Mr. Joyce also gives the students advice and exercises to sharpen their acting skills. "Mr. Joyce is an excellent teacher," said Carr. The class has been going over so well that the members are already talking about forming an after school drama club that will launch second semester.

The other members of the class besides Carr and Capotosto are Bryan Mason, Kristin Flynn, Dan Recupero, Jess Martin, Catherine Normoyle, Leanne Reardon, Sue Berghaus, Kara Irving, Stefanie Sordillo, Robin Manini, Katelyn Sughrue, Felicia Newhouse, Rebecca Allen, Kim Gillespie, Kerin Parker, Victoria Gladominsky, and Jessica Arria.

"We have a lot of talented people in the class," said Carr. "I believe that the show is going to be great. All of the cast have been working very hard. I'm very happy with the way things are going so far."

Building Or Remodeling A Home? Consider Healthy, Safe Construction Materials

Safe, non-toxic and environmentally responsible construction materials are growing in popularity in homes today. One such product is Insul Safe III® Fiber Glass Blown-In Insulation which has no chemical additives and is completely non-allergenic and non-combustible in the event of a fire as it is made of melted sand.

Recently there has been a great deal of news coverage about indoor air quality and healthy houses constructed using safe, non-toxic and environmentally responsible materials. As respiratory illnesses such as asthma continue to rise in the country more healthy, non-allergenic materials are being chosen, particularly by those sensitive to chemicals in building materials.

When comparing building products for a new home being constructed or one you are remodeling, remember there can be vast differences—even among materials that do the same job. Take insulation for example. Insul Safe III® Fiber Glass Blown-In Insulation is manufactured using exclusively sand melted at high temperatures then spun. It has no chemical additives and is completely nonallergenic and non-combustible in the event of a fire. Other insulations, particularly blown-in varieties can have added chemicals designed to retard the spread of fire. Cellulose, made from ground up newspapers, for instance, creates wood dust linked to cancers of the upper respiratory tract and certain nasal cancers. In addition, it contains chemical additives such as boric acid, borax and sulfuric acid, which are all considered toxic materials and can pose health threats over time. In addition, the chemicals can leech out minimizing their ability to prevent fires from spreading.

Other healthy and environmentally friendly construction materials to discuss with your builder or contractor include:

- Low volatile organic compound (VOC) wood floor stains and finishing products
- Low VOC paints and varnishes
- Natural fiber carpet pads
- Super energy-efficient windows and doors
- Environmentally safe waterproofing materials
- Natural structural wood products
- Low VOC construction and wood adhesives
- Recycled asphalt and concrete gravel for driveways

For more information on fiber glass insulation, write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482, or call 1-800-782-8777 and ask for the "What You Should Know About Blown-In Insulations" brochure.

Luxury Fabrics and More Coordination Enrich Bedrooms

(MPS) — While the popular "unmade bed" look is still the most important decorating style in today's bedrooms, trendsetting ready-made comforter sets, window decor and accessories have taken a new direction. More luxurious fabrics and rich colors, as well as an extensive selection of coordinated components, will add an elegant, dressed-up character to almost everyone's favorite retreat.

Part of the richness comes from the use of heavier-weight woven fabrics similar to upholstery materials. Many are being printed with a heat-transfer technique that adds the multitudes and greater depth of very expensive fabrics to the pattern.

A prime example is Cotswold, an ensemble from Croscill Home Fashions. Warm, muted mauve, lavender and peach tones and large, old-fashioned blooms give the design an antique quality. Designer Gregory Davidson predicts that among current fashion trends, "simple midtone antique looks will become deeper, richer and even appear slightly worn."

Coordinating sheets have a simple, understated pin stripe bordered in the floral design. Enhancing the opulence of the ensemble is an extensive spectrum of correlating accessories that echo the pattern and give the room a polished custom finish.

RICH, MUTED TONES and large, old-fashioned blooms reminiscent of antique patterns lend character to Cotswold, a new luxury bedroom ensemble from Croscill Home Fashions. The design is printed on a heavy-weight woven fabric similar to upholstery materials, adding to its opulence.

Messy Wallpaper Projects

Thanks to a new product from Zinsser called Sure-Grip, hanging pre-pasted wallpaper is now a lot easier. Sure-Grip is a super-concentrated powder adhesive/activator that mixes easily with water for application to the back of wallcoverings with a brush or medium-nap paint roller. It increases the holding power or "grip" of the adhesive on pre-pasted wallpaper, and it eliminates the need for messy water trays. It makes hanging easier, holding seams tight, and allowing more open working time for pattern matching.

For the do-it-yourselfer, pre-paste activators like Sure-Grip not only eliminate water tray mess and the fear of over- or under-soaking the wallpaper, they also eliminate the problems with over-handling soaked papers. Novice paperhangers often tend to over-handle the wet wallpaper and wear the paste off the edges, which leads to edge curling.

Sure-Grip comes in a handy, economical foil packet. The small package is much easier to tote home than heavy, ready-mixed buckets of activator. Each packet will make two gallons of activator, which is enough to hang 18-20 single rolls of pre-pasted wallpaper.

Wood Repair Tips For Furniture, Doors, And Woodwork

Repair gouges in wood surfaces by filling with a high-quality wood filler, like Bondex Plastic Wood. Overfill to allow for sanding down to a smooth surface. After the repaired area has dried, apply stain or varnish to match the existing finish.

- Scratches — To quickly conceal minor scratches, nicks, and chips, use Bondex Wood Stain Pen. Apply just like a regular felt tip marker.

residue off the surface before applying the compound, so it can soak into the pores of the wood. This product is also good for tightening press-fit wood handles on cabinet doors, brushes and brooms, and for fixing wood toys.

- Rotten Windowsills — Scrape away the soft, rotted wood, and fill with Plastic Wood. Sand and stain when dry. For outdoor projects, use Exterior Plastic Wood, which cures by the UV rays of the sun to an epoxy-tough surface. It's ideal for repairing sashes, sills, and trim.

Bondex wood repair products are available at hardware stores, home centers, and paint and decorating outlets.

The Arts And Crafts Kitchen Is Making Strong Comeback

Timeless simplicity typifies the Arts and Crafts kitchen. Here, Rutt of Seattle architect J. Paul Lobkovich and homeowner Jim Williamson recreate this style with an antique Wedgewood stove and custom cabinetry crafted in maple as its main ingredients.

Once more, the Arts and Crafts movement is important in the world of home design. Mission-style furniture and prairie houses à la Frank Lloyd Wright are newly popular, and superior craftsmanship is the quality most sought after in design elements and accessories.

This is especially true in the kitchen, say designers from Rutt showrooms around the nation. Increasingly, their clients request kitchens with the clean lines, meticulous craftsmanship and natural materials that we associate with the Arts and Crafts style.

Jere Bowden, a Georgia designer recognized for innovative kitchen design, says the strength of this trend doesn't surprise her.

"The original movement began as a reaction against the mass-produced, machine-made furnishings created during the Industrial Revolution towards the end of the 19th century," explains Bowden, who is associated with Rutt of Atlanta. "People wanted well-designed, well-crafted items, and nature became a recurrent theme. Today, we're reacting against a computerized, high-tech world, and, once more, we embrace nature and seek out beautifully designed and crafted design elements."

Kitchen Elements

"In the kitchen, this translates into true custom cabinetry, crafted to perfection from beautiful hardwoods," adds

Tom Pettigrew, whose Rutt of Seattle firm has created a number of Arts and Crafts kitchens that have won national acclaim. "It also involves wood, stone or tile floors, counters and backsplashes, and we like to dress appliances to blend right in with the cabinetry. We also try to use legs instead of toe-kicks, so at least some of the cabinets will look like furniture pieces."

The Seattle firm looks for reconditioned appliances for Craftsman-style kitchens. "Such appliances are true finds," notes Pettigrew. "But if the real thing can't be found, commercial appliances have a timeless look that works well in Arts and Crafts kitchens. We also like to mix countertop materials. For example, we may use wood on an island, stainless steel at a baking center, and tile or granite for the rest of the counters. For backsplashes, we like beaded board or ceramic tile in neutral nature colors. Sculptured border or accent tiles go well with this look."

Windows in Arts and Crafts kitchens usually have three mullions across the top and have to be custom made, according to these Rutt designers. As far as lighting is concerned, they recommend combining recessed lights that are all but invisible and period hanging fixtures.

"Who wants to return to the dim spaces we know from old Craftsman bungalows?" asks Bowden. "Today's undercabinet, halogen and various types of task lighting work well. They provide pools of light rather than over-all brightness."

Cabinet Details

However, the cabinets are, by far, the most important element, according to Susan Bates, CKD, a noted designer associated with Rutt of Los Altos in Northern California.

"The cabinetry is the ingredient that establishes the style," notes Bates. "Simple designs with the painstakingly perfected details characteristic of custom cabinetry crafted by Rutt are just right. Natural wood finishes or white-painted styles are true to the look, but in turn-of-the-century homes, it might be a good idea to check trim and paneling around the house for clues to what wood species and finish to use."

For a Better Lawn in the Spring, Fertilize This Fall

This homeowner is taking Bill Lee's advice to fertilize now for a better lawn in the spring.

(NU) - Many people don't think about how their lawns will look six months from now. But people who want a beautiful, green lawn in the spring should plan ahead and fertilize this fall.

Fall is the single best time of the year to fertilize your lawn. You will see great benefits from starting a lawn care program, or supplementing one, by feeding the grass in the fall. During the fall the top growth of leaves slows, but the growth of the roots and rhizomes increases.

"The roots of the grass are the foundation on which the plant is growing in the first place. And the more you can give it the right food, the better it will be able to grow," says Bill Lee, a Dublin, Ohio, homeowner whose lawn is so nice it was selected by The Scotts Company for a national television commercial.

In all but the hottest parts of the country, the ideal fall lawn care schedule is to make two feedings. First, apply a slow-release fertilizer in early September. Then, in cooler climates, apply a special winterizing lawn fertilizer four to six weeks later.

"A specialized winter lawn fertilizer gives the lawn a good feeding before the frost and freezing weather," explains Bill. "There's still root growth going on until the ground actually freezes. As long as the roots are growing, you're continuing to develop a strong foundation. And that helps the plant to endure the winter weather and come out strong and green in the spring."

Bill also says it is important to keep your lawn care program simple, which can be done, in part, by selecting the right fertilizer. For best results, choose a slow-release fertilizer with uniform, homogeneous particles. "A uniform granule can be spread easily," he explains. "You don't have to worry about burning or green stripes in the lawn. It has long-lasting feeding too."

If you need to control broadleaf weeds, such as dandelions, you may substitute a weed-and-feed product for either of the fall applications. If you are unable to make two fall feedings, apply the winter lawn fertilizer at the heavy application rate listed on the bag.

To learn more about fertilizing your lawn, or for answers to other lawn care questions, contact the Scotts Consumer Helpline at 1-800-543-TURF.

Painting Your Floors, Doors And More. It Saves Money, Makes Sense

And cabinets, which endure the most constant jarring throughout the day, can be improved dramatically with a little paint and a lot of imagination.

"Not only are these paint projects rewarding, but they sure cost a lot less than buying antiques or new pieces," says Feldman.

For a porch or patio, a colored floor can complement a house's overall exterior and trim. It can also help accent the porch's furniture and neighboring landscape.

Painting's Full-Court Press

With more and more people adding design statements and colorful looks to floors and furniture, the question remains: who's responsible for this surge in painting these surfaces?

According to Feldman, it's the media that have been touting this latest fashion rage.

"You can't pick up a shelter magazine or watch a home-improvement show without seeing something on the artistic and financial benefits of painting these areas," she says.

If the press has made this the home-improvement project du jour, it's because it makes for a good story. In it, people are finding an alternative to buying new home designs by creating their own from the abused and overlooked surfaces that already exist in their houses.

Paint Protection

But beauty and saving money only scratch the surface when it comes to why people select paint. Protecting these high-traffic areas has always been a foremost concern.

"These areas are subjected to more abuse than anywhere else in the home. It doesn't make sense to give them a sparkle or shine without tough, durable protection," Feldman says.

She points to the following attributes of paint that make it such a popular choice for these battered areas:

- ability to resist dirt, oil and grease stains
- "scrubbability"
- scratch & scuff resistant
- long-lasting durability

Looking to combine beauty with protection, more people are painting high-traffic areas around the house. A painted porch floor (above) provides a great look and resists scuffing and scratching.

Armed with paint brushes and home fashion magazines, do-it-yourselfers are rushing to reclaim the most banged-up and scuffed-up surfaces in their homes.

Why the sudden interest in helping rejuvenate age-old doors, worn floors and faded furniture?

One reason may be that adding a little color and protection to these surfaces can help homeowners save a small fortune.

"Paint costs about $16 a gallon, whereas carpeting can cost you $16 a square foot," says Linda Feldman, brand manager for Dutch Boy Paints. "And given the expense for new cabinets or furniture, you can see why people are eager to spruce up what they already have."

But saving money is just part of the equation. It seems there's a little Picasso in most home-improvement buffs. The fact is, a great many of them view porches, floors and other well-worn places as proving grounds to showcase their artistic sides.

Adding Artistic Touches

"Some people are content to just paint a surface a solid color, but there's a growing number of do-it-yourselfers who are willing to experiment with a mixture of colors, style and designs," Feldman says.

Wood floors, in particular, have become the latest canvas for talented do-it-yourselfers. Whether it's a simple, painted border design or an elaborate paint technique, homeowners are putting brush to wood so that their floors stand out.

One of the most popular targets for budding artists is furniture. Old dressers and chests have long been favorites for those looking to create an original touch to an everyday item. Bookcases, rocking chairs and tables also look great when painted.

Adding Enduring Delight To Your Garden

The Glenwood: A classic arched arbor.

The Rosewood: A pergola-type model.

Your garden is as much a reflection of your personality and the things in life that are most important to you as is the interior of your home.

But there's a great difference in most people's attitude towards these two important areas of their lives. Every so often they will decide to give their rooms a totally new look: refinish the walls, replace drapes and window coverings, move the furniture around or change it completely. Out with the old - in with the new! But rare indeed is a major overhaul of the yard or garden.

A garden, once established, usually changes very little over the years and whatever changes are made come gradually. There will be a few trial plantings from season to season, or a flower bed will be moved to gain better sun or more shade. A once attractive shrub will wither or become ungainly and have to be replaced. For the garden reflects the more serene and contemplative side of our personality. A good part of the joy we take in our garden comes from its continuity, from watching the annual cycle of blossoming and transitions of color and foliage with its reassurance that this part of our life, at least, will remain unchanging.

Among the more acceptable changes that can be made to a garden with little effort and without disturbing its continuity is by adding an arbor.

Not only does an arbor provide an attractive accent in itself, it affords an opportunity for a dramatic display of one or more of the romantic old-fashioned climbing roses or the many new varieties of clematis or other flowering vines. Or it can be situated so that it frames the entry to your garden or a special vista.

Selecting Your Arbor

While ready-made arbors are available in metal, plastic and wood at garden supply stores, nurseries and home centers, the more enterprising do-it-yourselfers may wish to build it themselves. You can buy sets of plans but while a small arbor is a simple structure it is not an easy project to build from scratch. It requires not only superior carpentry skills but also lots of tools and you'll have to run around to pick up the lumber needed for a quality job.

A good wood arbor demands high grade materials, preferably rot-resistant. The best-looking arbors include lattice in their construction and that can create a problem. Not only is craftsman grade lattice not easily available but it requires special care in cutting and fitting in making an assembly. The alternative of having it custom built can be a spendy proposition even if you can locate a neighborhood carpenter who will take on a small job - a vanishing breed all across America.

The best approach, and the one which offers the most attractive results and the best value, is to assemble an arbor from one of the packaged kits produced under the Woodway and Arborea names by the LWO Corporation and available nationally through lawn and garden supply stores and departments. They are offered in a variety of styles, the most popular being the classic round-top or the straight-topped pergola model shown in our photos.

All models are nicely detailed and well-constructed of premium grade Western Red Cedar, a species nature has made so resistant to rot and insects that it does not require chemical treatment. Red cedar is also an attractive wood, warm in color, which takes paint or stains very well or can be left unfinished to weather to a soft gray which is particularly attractive in the casual or rustic garden.

These arbors are truly easy to assemble. Even an unskilled do-it-yourselfer can complete the job in about an hour using only a screwdriver. The latticed side panels are pre-assembled at the factory, and full detailed instructions are provided, together with all necessary fasteners. Each unit is fully cartoned to assure that it reaches you in clean, undamaged condition.

Finishing And Placing Your Arbor

You can paint these smoothly-finished arbors any color you wish, stain them or apply a clear coat if you prefer.

Careful application of any finish is best done prior to assembly, and will take longer than putting them together. Unlike the industrial-looking plastic versions, with their glassy finish and mechanical aura, Arborea and Woodway Cedar arbors seem at home, attractive and unobtrusive, in the garden setting.

While you can do your final assembly of your arbor adjacent to where it is to be finally located, it may not be a convenient spot to work in. But these units are light in weight. They can be assembled in a practical location and readily moved to the chosen spot. It will require a couple of people but these won't have to be professional weight-lifters.

There are many places in the garden where an arbor can provide an attractive addition:

- As the entry to the yard or garden, or to a special garden walk.
- In a spot at the back of the garden, or in a corner, where it will offer shelter, particularly if you add an available accessory bench to convert it to a garden seat.
- To frame a view, either of part of your garden or of a vista beyond.
- On a section of lawn, with profusely-blooming roses or other flowering climbers, like clematis, honeysuckle or columbine, to make a key feature of your yard.

- Several in a row, with connecting trellis, to create a garden "tunnel" or gallery, with grapes or wisteria climbing overhead.
- At the top of a stairway, either wooden or stonework, down from a deck, or to a lower terrace or waterfront level.

With a minimum of care, these attractive arbors, with their durable red cedar construction and good craftsmanship, will provide many years of service while lending added beauty and delight to your continuing enjoyment of your garden.

Opulence Returns to Windows

(MPS) — Windows covered only with blinds were, not so long ago, the height of fashion, but that's all changed now. The newest look for windows is a dressed-up opulence, best exemplified by a soft, flowing window dressing in loose, unconstructed folds.

Gone are the pinch pleats. Today, loop-top panels that hang from decorative hooks on decorative rods are the basis of much window dressing. Scarves that simply drape over the rods or swags, jabots, cascades and other top treatments that are hung on the rods can be layered for a more formal decor or a change of pace — or season.

Entertaining Drives Need for New Furniture

After two years and 16,064 consumer interviews, Britt Beemer, founder and chairman of America's Research Group, has discovered that entertaining in the home is the only force that drives consumers to spend more on furniture purchases.

"Contrary to popular belief — especially in the furniture industry — shoppers with high levels of disposable income and expensive homes do not represent the best prospects for upper-end furniture purchases," says Beemer. "Our research shows that the more frequently consumers entertain at home, the more they will spend for furniture."

These findings ought to be a wake-up call for the industry, which Beemer says has been wandering like a ship without a compass.

The most likely furniture prospects, he feels, may subscribe to a gourmet magazine for its recipes and in-home dining ideas, not a slick designer publication, masquerading as a status symbol. SH962005

Simple Strategies Spruce Up Your Vacation Rental Property

(MPS) — While some of us are still wondering why last summer's renters left the wok in the backyard shower, homeowners with rental property in vacation communities should be planning for the next "season." Whether you occupy your property in the summer and rent it out in the winter or vice versa, it's never too soon to plan the renovation projects that attract tenants and enhance your own enjoyment of the property. There are myriad ways to update a rental property easily and inexpensively to charm prospective tenants and command a higher fee:

• Fresh paint — The easiest redecorating job comes in a gallon can of paint. Experiment! While some people swear by white walls, others recommend very pale pastels, especially when light is limited. Rooms with dark, ordinary paneling can be brightened by painting over the paneling. Be sure to prime the surface first so that the paint adheres to it. You'll see how cheerful the room becomes!

• Mint-condition floors — Floors are critical to a sense of spaciousness and ease of care. For this purpose, the best floors are resilient (vinyl) flooring, which is available in a wide range of styles and prices. Resilient flooring can replicate hardwood, marble, ceramic and saltillo tile. According to Leonard Ludovico, vice president of styling and design for Congoleum Corp., "A great floor that helps unify the space instantly improves any property; and resilient flooring eliminates time-consuming upkeep."

• Style is everything — Nothing helps a vacation house rent faster than a sure sense of style. Before you invest in expensive decorative items, take a look at what you already own. For example, an old wooden cabinet filled with towels keeps style in the bath close at hand, while a well-lit desk in the bedroom invites letter writing. Don't expect renters to tend to your plants — silk plants and dried-flower arrangements add panache without the bother.

• How are the closets? — One of the things prospective renters consider is closets, so why not make yours as appealing as possible? Install hooks inside closet doors for bags and belts, and add wire shelving near the floor for shoes. Remember that the new flooring should continue right into the closets.

Preparing your property for renters

Rebirth of Kitchens

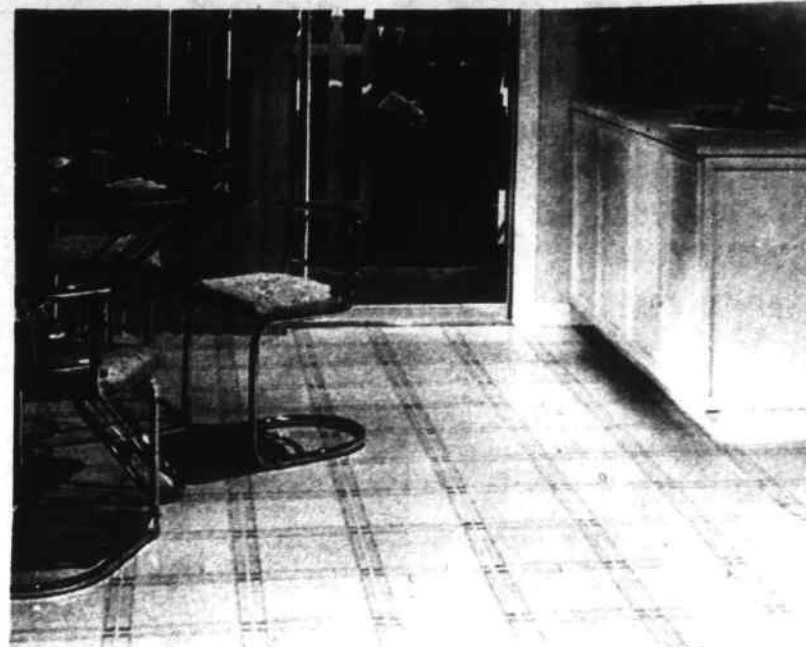

Is your kitchen boring and lifeless? If your kitchen needs help, don't worry. Countless solutions for creating a knockout kitchen exist, and most of them can be accomplished in one weekend.

Wainscoting around the walls, adding a window to provide natural sunlight and installing a new easy-to-clean floor are examples of simple ways to help create a knockout kitchen, according to Georgia-Pacific.

Let your imagination soar, and the opportunities are endless. Tackle one project every weekend, and before you know it, your kitchen will be a knockout. For more information on Georgia-Pacific's building products and free project brochures, call 1-800-BUILD-GP.

The Strength of Metal Roofs

Metal roofing provides many benefits, and it also can be very attractive. A quality metal roof will have a Kynar® finish, known to architects and engineers as the best for lasting color and protection. Also, a metal requires more dash than cash. Renters are not that interested in "the perfect"; they prefer spaces that are easy, stylish and, above all, clean. Don't forget that any renovations you make are also for your own comfort and pleasure.

environmental analyst for the Department of Environmental protection said "They were clearly in violation. We want to make sure that the school is safe," said MacAuley.

According to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine A. O'Donnell, several teachers approached building principal Douglas Anderson expressing concern over the possibility of asbestos being present at the school and being a health hazard. "I was notified about 8:00 P.M." said O'Donnell. "We felt that due to the lateness of the hour we could not notify each parent directly."

The following is an excerpt from a letter sent to parents by O'Donnell and Anderson.

Due to the late hour in which this decision was made, it was not possible to notify each parent directly about the closure. As a result, all North Intermediate students were transported directly to Wilmington High School where they were met by their teachers. Mr. Anderson and Dr. Lore Nielson, Curriculum coordinator, met with the faculty at 7:30 a.m. in the library to inform them of the situation and the structure for the day.

The homeroom teachers quickly planned a full program of instructional activities for their students while the specialist teachers took attendance, oriented and supervised students. Student activities included graphing and reviewing in math, reading comprehension and language arts, National Geographic studies and nature walks for science, map skills for social studies, etc. Students were served a full lunch through the high school cafeteria.

Anyone who arrived at the school during the mid morning hours was greeted by a sign and locked doors.

The transfer of students to the High School was cause for concern for every parent that the Town Crier spoke with. "I called my daughter out of school at 8:00 a.m. and then received a phone call from a woman who said that she was from the school system. She asked me if I sent my daughter to school. She said that with the transporting of students they didn't want to lose anyone."

Another parent who had heard about the closure from a friend, said: "I asked the bus driver if he was taking them to the High School [at her child's bus stop], and he said that he was taking them to the North. His cell phone then rang and was told to take them to the High School."

One parent was particularly irate at the decision to drill during school hours. "This should have been done during the summer or during non school hours. O'Donnell said the decision to drill during school was made because it was "cost effective".

Other parents this reporter spoke with questioned the quality of instruction during the two days. The Town Crier has also learned that a complaint has been filed with the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Dr. O'Donnell stated that there would be an emergency manual devised, and a notification system put into place as a result of the incident.

Dr. O'Donnell praised the teachers at the school "The teachers were outstanding, they put the focus on creating a positive learning environment."

All air quality and swipe tests were negative and the school reopened Monday.

cialty chemicals for the rubber and plastics industry. The raw materials used at the facility included sodium dichromate until 1967. The former manufacturing process generated liquid waste.

These liquid wastes included: sulfuric acid, sodium chloride, sodium sulfate, ammonium chloride, ammonium sulfate, chromium sulfate and other constituents. Prior to 1970, these liquid wastes were discharged to various on site pits and man made lagoons.

These discharged materials migrated down through the soil to the bedrock surface below. The density of the material causes it to be carried by gravity down to the bedrock, where it sits today.

The monitoring of the site and wells seem to indicate the chemical mass is staying in place. "Computer modeling tells us that if normal conditions hold it is unlikely the mass will move," said O'Brien.

Olin Corporation continues to work with the community and the state to resolve the situation. It seems as if they are working to ensure a safe, fast solution to the area contamination. Let's hope conditions stay "normal" and the state continues to keep a watchful eye on the cleanup.

• Selectmen meeting

"It was indicated that it would be best to suspend decision making. At this time, there is essentially nothing on the table," said Cairn.

Olin Corporation representatives were present to discuss the assessments made during the second phase of their contamination investigation of the Eames St. plant site.

According to Olin's Manager of Environmental Sites Thomas O'Brien, the area is contaminated due to improper waste disposal by the prior plant owners during the early 1950's. Since, the area of contamination has spread to the west of the facility and formed a dense layer of inorganics on the bedrock surface below. Currently, there is no threat posed to residents who use the town's water supply, or to those who draw their water from private wells, since the layer of bedrock is much deeper than these wells and drinking water has continued to meet safety standards. Also, as a precaution, Olin will continue to monitor three sentinel wells on a monthly basis and submit the results to the town and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

"We are satisfied with the work that has been ongoing. Olin has been very proactive," said Valerie Thompson of the DEP. "There is a lot of contamination out there and it takes a long time to assess this. Future risks will be assessed when (Olin) gets into the next phase."

Volleyball team continues complete turn around

by Steve Repsys
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High School girls volleyball team has continued their amazing turnaround season thus far with another win on Monday night.

Considering the last few years, the volleyball team hasn't combined to win six games, Monday's two set sweep over Lynnfield pushed their record this season to 6-1 overall and the season is not even half way old yet. What does that say?

The Lady Wildcats are filled with confidence and according to Nee they are at the top of their game.

"When they come to the gym, they come to win," said Nee. "There's no doubt in their minds. They feel like they can beat anybody. The girls have played up to their expectations. The bus is very loud on the way home."

Perhaps the biggest reason, besides hard work and determination, for the team's turnaround is the team's depth and versatility. Wilmington swept Lynnfield Monday night winning by the scores of 15-8 and 15-10. In the first game Andrea White, the setter, went down with a finger injury. Wilmington did not miss a beat as junior Meghan Lojek stepped right in.

"She came in and set up the whole second game," said head coach Mike Nee. "She did a terrific job. The team really cameback when they had to."

Many Lady Wildcats had a great game to lead WHS to their sixth victory in seven tries.

"The game had a little bit of everything," said Nee. "We had strong defense, real good offense and good serving. We had to switch our offense but the team came to play."

Rebecca Rogers, a senior middle hitter, had six blocks and two kills, all for points. She also served two aces.

Allison Giordano also had an all-around impressive night. In both games she had four blocks, two kills and two tips.

Nee also tips his hat to many other of his tremendous star athletes for their performances at Lynnfield.

"Cheryl Lee did a spectacular job serving in the second game," said Nee. "She served the first five points and served for the last seven points and had two aces. In the first game she had two kills. In game one, Danielle McGarry had great net play. She created confusion and did a nice job of blocking. Michelle Barker played spectacular. She had seven digs in the back row. Without her play, Cheryl would not have had her last seven points. [Barker] made crucial plays in the second game."

The Lady Wildcats have overcome several key injuries. In fact three starters are currently on the shelf with injuries. White is out with a finger injury, Meghan Falzone is out with two broken fingers and Jackie Eldridge is on the mend with a knee injury.

"Injuries don't phase the team," said Nee. "Someone else has been able to step up and fill the void."

This team has come a long way through the last few years, and that alone, nevermind their record, is amazing to say the least. Just two years ago, the team had trouble getting the ball over net, okay maybe not that bad, but their improvement over the years, especially this one, is really something to be proud over.

Girls hoop sign ups

Hendee, soccer team looks for consistency

by Jamie Pote
Sports Editor

Sue Hendee has seen many wins and many losses over her tenure as WHS girls soccer coach. She has seen her share of talented teams and not so talented teams. This year's team is one of those talented teams, but they are young and talented, and that is a big difference from experienced and talented.

With so many skill players on her team, one can see why Hendee is not so thrilled when her team is 4-2-1 thus far.

"I'm frustrated because we are so inconsistent," Hendee said. "Yeah, I'm happy that we have a winning record, but we can be playing so much better. I'm wondering what would happen if we play 80 minutes of soccer against [Wednesday's opponent] North Andover? [Monday] was a great example of our season so far."

"We played horrendously in the first half, and then in the second half we everyone stepped up and played much better and we controlled the game, we just couldn't put any finishing touches on our scoring chances," Hendee continued.

Through the first half of Monday's clash against Lynnfield, the Pioneers outshot the Cats 8-0. In the second half, Wilmington held Lynnfield to just four shots, while the Cats dominated in scoring chances. Both teams, defense and goaltending held on for a scoreless tie.

"Meredith [Cipriani] made several big saves in the second half," Hendee said. "She was also huge in [Saturday's] North Reading. We won 1-0 and Meredith made some very good saves," Hendee said.

Over the past two games, Cipriani has taken the goalkeeping chores, instead of her and Melissa Mather splitting them. With another goalie Val Cwickowski out for the season as well as field players Kara Irving and Arlene Muscufo out for the season and some illnesses to some of the field players including Mather, Hendee has changed things around and thus far it has worked with Cipriani making approximately 28 saves in those two shutouts.

"Everything is up to Melissa," Hendee said about the goalie situation. "I have full confidence in Melissa in the net and out on the field and I also have full confidence in Meredith and Val in the net, so I really don't care what Melissa's decision is. I'm leaving it up to her because she is the senior, it's her choice what she wants to do. But the loss of Val and Arlene will hurt us."

With their 4-2-1 record, Wilmington looks to improve that and hopefully gel its talents together when North Andover comes to WHS on Wednesday and Amesbury comes to the North Intermediate for a home contest on Friday afternoon with both games hoping to start at 3:30 (try, 3:45-4:00).

WHS Field Hockey Just one of those games

by Jamie Pote
Sports Editor

After being undefeated for the first few weeks of the season, something had to give sooner or later for the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team. It did.

On Tuesday afternoon, the Cats traveled to Lynnfield and not only did they lose 3-1, but the field conditions were so poor, that it had an effect on Wilmington's play. However, no excuses whatsoever, the Cats lost simply but the Pioneers beating them to the ball all afternoon.

"They simply outthrust us," said head coach Maureen Noone. "We couldn't get anything going. I didn't feel anyone played as well as they could have. I hope it was just one of those games, and I hope it's an eye opener for the girls."

Wilmington was down 3-0 at the half, which meant netminder Patrice Mendoza's streak of seven games of not (really) being scored upon ended.

"None of the goals were Patrice's fault. Their field was about 20 yards shorter than ours and it was all dirt - that means one hit and your at the goalie. Several of their goals came from corner hits where the ball was sent out and it would rolled on the dirt and take this big hop and Patrice couldn't do anything about it."

With their loss, Wilmington is now a very strong 6-1-1 overall. Rebecca Toto scored the lone goal for the Cats with Jodi MacKenzie getting the assist.

Wilmington continues their two-week road trip with stops in North Andover, Amesbury and Georgetown this week.

Not a bad start for WHS sports teams

by Jamie Pote
Sports Editor

As of Monday night, the combined records of the Wilmington High School football, volleyball, boys and girls soccer and field hockey teams equals an impressive 21-5-4 record. Wow! Where has this come from?

Let's start with the most surprising team, that is the volleyball team. A lot of credit has to go out to head coach Mike Nee and his players. For what has seemed like eternity, they have been very patient, implementing different systems every season to fit that certain team and for the past decade or so, the WHS Volleyball team has taken their share of lumps between Nee for the past four seasons and before him North Intermediate Principal Doug Anderson.

On one hand, nothing has changed for the volleyball team, they have always worked very hard, diving for every loose ball and so forth. Now, the patience and talent has come together for Nee and the squad and they are off to a terrific start in the Middlesex League (combo of Middlesex, Merrimack Valley and Cape Ann League teams). The team hopes to make it to the state tournament for the first time since breckdancing and the movie "Revenge of the Nerds" was popular, so good luck and congratulations goes out to that team.

The next team, is another surprise...well not really now that I think about it. The Field Hockey team has always been awesome at Wilmington, no matter in the MVC or now in the CAL. To be honest, I wasn't too sure about this year's team because they lost so many players from last year. I knew that if they were going to be successful, they needed a big season from netminder Patrice Mendoza, and since she hasn't given up a goal yet this season, perhaps she has come up big for the 6-0-1 team.

Now comes the boys and girls soccer teams, who it seems might just have the go-to goal scorer that both teams were desperately seeking. For the boys, junior Dennis Ingram leads the way with five goals, but this team is playing solid, all-around soccer from the front all the way to the defense. Keep it up, guys.

Next is the girls soccer team who is very deep and very talented, especially with the underclassmen. Sophomore Lindsay Bruno, like ngram, an underclassmen, leads the way for he team with five goals, too.

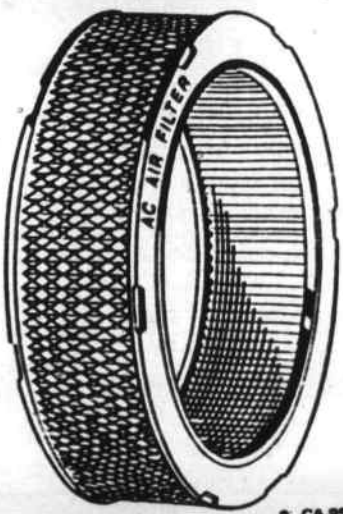

Anyway, Sue Hendee should really be excited with this season and the next few to come, but the lone problem for Hendee is the inconsistency. If anyone saw Monday's game, they know why Hendee might not be as excited. One half, the team played terrible and the other half they played great, shifting the entire game into their hands. Now if only the 4-2-1 team can put 80 minutes of soccer together for a long stretch of games, then perhaps Hendee can get back to being as excited as she should be.

The golf team and the boys and girls cross country teams are working hard, despite their losing records and I hope I didn't discourage those teams when talking about the rest of the teams. Keep working hard and success will follow.

It's great to see this hot start for the majority of the teams, hopefully, this won't end at the start of the new month. And hopefully, many of these teams will qualify for the state tournament, so I can one enjoy all of the teams and watch great state tournament games and two, so I can be very busy, I hate it during the slow inbetween weeks of play. It's boring. So for your sake and mine, kidding of course, keep up the good work and the winning ways.

WHS Cheerleaders

The tradition continues

by Stephen Repsys
Sports Correspondent

Besides the obvious players, there are many people who work very hard during a football game. For instance, the coaches, announcers, officials and the band always give their all day in and day out. Without the aforementioned, high school football games would not be the same. Nor, would they be the same without the hard working cheerleaders - especially those from Wildcat Country. The long tradition of talented girls who support the boys on the gridiron under coach Sarah Cosman has continued. Just ask Cosman or senior captain Kerri French.

"I like to go to football games and getting the fans involved," said French, who has been a cheerleader for the last eight years including Pop Warner. "I like being involved with school spirit. I try to get everyone involved with the football games. When the game is getting hot and heavy, I try to get the crowd more involved and rev' them up."

This year's cheerleaders are mostly sophomores. French is the lone senior, while, Alison Deechan, Angela Downs and Nicole Schell are the three juniors. Darlene Parker, Michelle Russo, Kelly Pizzano, Jamie Coulton, Katie Beaudin, Stephanie Sordillo, Jackie Hanafin and Kelly Cavanaugh are all sophomores.

The cheers French and the rest of the WHS cheerleading squad use are passed down from traditions. Also at cheerleading camp in the summer new cheers are created.

While watching French cheer for WHS, one might think that comes naturally. However, a great deal of practice is involved. In fact there is two hours of practice each day after school and one hour on Saturday mornings.

Head Coach Sarah Cosman gives a great deal of credit to her lone senior.

"She is working so hard," said Cosman. "It's difficult to be the only senior. She has a tough job but the three juniors [Alison Deechan, Angela Downs, and Nicole Schell] are giving her a lot of help."

Having the talented WHS band at its side, certainly makes it easier for the 12 member cheerleading team.

"We're one of the few schools in the Cape Ann League that has a band," said Cosman, who has been coaching for fifteen years. "The girls enjoy working with the band."

French, who is also on the gymnastics team, added, "The band helps to get the crowd involved by playing the Rocky theme and other songs."

French and the rest of the cheerleaders will once again compete in the Cape Ann League Cheerleading Competition. This is the third year WHS is involved.

"This year I hope we do well," said Cosman. "We're striving to get the Spirit Award by being cordial to the other schools, cheering for the other schools, and bringing fruit baskets to the other teams."

French added, "The Cape Ann League is good competition. It's good to go through. It's more fun than nerve racking."

French has aspirations of attending Northeastern University next fall and is thinking of a career as a dental hygienist and she hopes to continue her cheerleading career. And the past few years, Cosman has seen several of her girls go on to become college cheerleaders as well as professional ones as well. Anne DuLong from the class of '95, is a football, hockey and basketball cheerleader for Boston University, and she is also a member of the New England Patriots cheerleading squad. Finally, from last year's squad, Kerri Anderson and Katey Sullivan are now on the football cheerleading squad for Bridgewater College.

All of that hard work and success for cheerleading starts from the Pop Warner days, but its mostly spent during the grueling practices at Wilmington High School. French and the rest of the squad, can certainly attest to that.

Boys under 10 soccer team continue to dominate

On September 20, the Wilmington Boys U10 youth soccer team hosted Burlington in the third game of the season. This game was to be dominated by Wilmington from start to finish. Minutes after the opening whistle, Stephen Pochtner opened the scoring with a terrific move through the middle of the Burlington defense and fired a shot high above the goalie's outstretched hand for a 1-0 lead. Wilmington's second goal came quickly after when P.J. Russo crossed the ball from the right wing. The ball was deflected in by the goalie for a 2-0 lead.

Wilmington's midfield combination of Brian Sullivan, Brian Cair, Sean Murphy and Zack Mayo controlled and passed the ball with great skill, keeping Burlington pinned to its own end. After another Stephen Pochtner goal, the half ended with Wilmington leading 3-0.

Boys & Girls cross country teams lose

by Stephen Repsys
Sports Correspondent

It's been a tough ride for the Wilmington High School boys and girls cross country teams this season.

This Monday at WHS, both teams hit another speed bump losing to Masconomet.

The boys cross country team battled hard but were defeated

Second half action saw Wilmington score three more times. Dennis Fiumara scored Wilmington's fourth goal when he received a terrific pass from P.J. Russo from the corner. Fiumara was in the proper position to finish the play.

After suffering with a severe case of poison ivy for the last two weeks, Tony Karalekas got on the scoring band wagon when another Russo pass fed him behind the Burlington defense. Tony's low hard shot beat the Burlington net minder easily for a 5-0 lead.

Wilmington finished its scoring for the day when Stephen Pochtner completed his attempt for a hat trick with a shot from the left wing. Wilmington goalies Zack Ungvarsky and Jimmy Dasilva held Burlington to maintain the shutout and the 6-0 victory for Wilmington.

21-40. Sophomore John Gillis was the highest WHS finisher, taking third with his time of 18:37. Junior Jason Crescenzo finished fourth with his performance of 18:37.

"They were the bright spots today," said coach Tom Bradley. "Jason Stark has been knocking on the door. As a freshman, I'm very pleased with him."

The girls gave a valiant effort but came up short 18-38.

Senior Sarah Powers finished fourth with her time of 22:56. Coming in sixth was senior captain Cheryl LeCesse with her performance of 24:00. Barbara Tate, a sophomore, took seventh with 24:26 and Kristen Bourinot took a ninth in the time of 24:43.

Though both teams stand at 1-5, Bradley sees many positives.

"The overall bright spot is that every kid ran better than the last time," said Bradley. "They just ran into a tougher opponent. Unfortunately they are running into tough competition. The key to success is we need to get out of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth spots and move up to seventh, eighth and ninth. If more runners can crack into the top ten, we'll have a much better chance of success."

Next up for WHS is North Andover on Thursday.

"That will be a tough meet. They seem to have a strong team," said Bradley.

The Wilmington High School cheerleaders take a moment out of their practice schedule on Tuesday afternoon to pose for a team picture. This year's cheerleaders are continuing the tradition of great support to the football team. WHS boys soccer team loses to Lynnfield, 4-2

by Jamie Pote
Sports Editor

There are always good signs when a team loses a game. And for the Wilmington High School boys soccer team - who lost 4-2 to the eleventh ranked Lynnfield team on Monday after beating North Reading by the same score last week - scoring six goals in two games in a great sign for them.

Now they just have to work off the rough edges and have all aspects of their game come together and things should be okay.

"I thought we were playing really good up until [Monday]," said head coach Dick Scanlon.

Lynnfield scored three of their four goals from corner kicks. Wilmington's tallies were scored by Peter Bamberg and Scott Swieczynski.

Last Thursday afternoon, the Cats beat North Reading 4-2. Tom Heigham, Kevin Riley, Mark DiGiovanni and Dave Ward all scored single goals for the Cats in the win.

Wilmington is now 5-2-1 overall as they have gone through half of its season right now. They will travel to North Andover, Amesbury and Georgetown before coming back home on Oct. 2 against Hamilton-Wenham.

Under 12A soccer team wins big

The Wilmington girls under 12A team recently opened the fall season of the Middlesex League and came away with two big victories over Reading and Stoneham.

In their first game, Wilmington played Reading and handled the Rockets team 6-0. Leading the way for Wilmington were Rachele See and Ashley Steenbruggen with two goals each, Lauren Rappoli and Andrea Ahtanasiou with one goal and an assist and the solid defensive play of Jennifer Earls, Kristin Burns and Allison Flynn.

In the second game Wilmington dominated Stoneham 5-0 with Stefanie Gable leading the charge with two goals and an assist and Rachele See chipped in with two more goals. The offense was also led by Lauren Cushing who had two assists and Shannon Fahey who added a goal.

During the start of the season Katie Riley, Emily Dorrance and Jackie Spry have been outstanding on defense with Dawn DeRosa and Amanda Martiniello leading the way at midfield. The offense has been aided by the long runs of Kara Bruce and the passing of Lauren Rappoli and in the net Gina Ranno, Shannon Fahey and Allison Flynn have been strong.

The girls take on Waltham and Concord next and hope to continue their successful season.

Girls under 10B soccer

The Wilmington girls under 10B youth soccer team have kept their winning streak going strong now for three games by winning 6-0 against Medford.

The girls also known as the "Stingers" came onto the field Saturday on fire. They fired shot after shot on Medford's goalie and finally aimed right into the net of the foot of Jen Comer. Following her was Katie Celli. They ended the first half 2-0.

The second half they were more determined than ever, and displayed some great team work between Amanda Miles, Jackie Stokes and Courtney Browne. They shot on Medford's goalie giving her no time to rest. Then magic feet belonging to Kim Gentile, Jackie Mello, Amber Warnick, Courtney Browne, scored one after the other.

Medford never gave up trying to get by the awesome defense of Alison Audette and Debbie Roohar. Goalie Adrienne Masiello did have to make some hair raising saves, but preserved her shutout.

However, if you really want to help, you will leave the house when it is being shown! We have found that the sales process does not really begin until buyers begin to voice their objections about a property. Sometimes these concerns are serious enough to remove your house from consideration. People often voice objections as a defense mechanism because they really love the house and want to buy it. We are trained to know the difference. If the seller is at the agent's elbow, the buyer will not be comfortable enough to let this process take place, and we could lose the sale. Football team gets into the win column

by Jamie Pote
Sports Editor

Through the first 3:53 of Saturday's high school football game, it appeared as if Pentucket was the real deal — coming off their win over North Andover — and perhaps Wilmington were the one-win wonders?

On the first series of downs, Pentucket marched right (or left for that matter) down the field. On nine plays, Pentucket gained 63 yards — all nine plays were running plays and all but one were run to the left side. Wilmington couldn't stop Pentucket on one play (gains of 4, 5, 9, 15, 19, 12, 2, 11 and 11, respectively...they did have a penalty take them back eight yards). Two plays before Pentucket made it 7-0, Wilmington called timeout and head coach Bob Almeida was not the happiest coach on the sidelines.

"No, I was not happy at all," chuckled Almeida on a phone interview on Monday evening.

"[Besides yelling and screaming] I was trying to get their attention. I thought there were four of five guys who were not playing well at all and who were not playing anywhere near the way they are capable of."

"Pentucket saw something [the left side] and they exploited on it. We made some adjustments and some of the kids really stepped it up after that first drive. I just thought we had to do much better jobs on our individual responsibilities and on that first drive we didn't do anything."

Perhaps Almeida's hat throwing, yelling and screaming while pacing vehemently up and down the sidelines, woke up his team. Actually, it did as the Cats rubbed and opened their sleepy eyes with 35 unanswered points as it scored on its next three possessions. Eric Banda — one of several underclassmen Almeida went to in the backfield as he moved Jamie Campbell to tight end with the injury to Dave DeAmato — started Wilmington's resurgence after Pentucket's first series touch-down with a 50-yard gain through the middle of the Sachems defense. Seven plays later, Mike Gennetti scored his first of two touchdowns on the afternoon and Campbell booted the P.A.T. to tie it at seven all.

"Our heads were on a swivel on Pentucket's first drive," said Gennetti, who rushed for 63 yards on six carries. "On my first touch-down, it was an off-tackle rush and I got wrapped up, and somehow I got drilled in. I just smelt the end zone."

Pentucket then took over at their own 27-yard line and this time the Cats defense made a huge difference, holding Pentucket to just three total yards, from 63 from a series ago. That allowed the Cats offense to go back on the field and continue its impressive showing (through two games, Wilmington has a 6.7 yards per carry and 21.8 yards per reception) as they managed 314 yards on the ground and 367 total yards.

Anyway, seven plays later and a new quarter, Wilmington had a fourth and four situation from the Sachems 36-yard line. Instead of the snap going to Gennetti to punt, it went to back Bryan Mason, and this time (same play failed last week) the senior back made it with an 36-yard touchdown run on the fake punt play as he bounced off a few tacklers for a nice TD run.

"We thought that we were going to have Dave DeAmato back, and now it looks like he will miss Friday's game as well. So, Jamie Campbell only had one day of practice as a tight end. I thought he did a good job. The original plan was to have him alternate between tight end and running back, but we were so successful with the running game that we didn't want to change anything at that time."

"Jamie is one of our best running backs, if not the best. [Monday] us as coaches have had a big debate about what our strategy is for Friday and it looks like Jamie will get a lot of time as a running back with Dan Torpey probably getting the nod as tight end. All of our backs have different running styles and they all are very good for different situations. Eric Banda had a terrific game, and what can you say about Matt Minghella? He makes a lot of defenders look silly with his moves and extelARATION. And then we have Bryan Mason, Mike Gennetti and Jamie who are all very good and we feel very confident with our backfield. With them and the way Timmy Gillis is playing, we don't think too many teams can key on any player," Almeida continued.

With Wilmington leading 14-7, once again its defense showed its true colors, as they settled down, holding the Sachems to four yards on four plays. The Wilmington backfield, minus DeAmato, had a big influence in that, as they held off two passing plays on that series, while, Pentucket was a dismal 1-for-10 passing.

"We have a very talented backfield, probably the best in the league," said Gennetti, a cornerback. "We didn't change anything today, we read our keys and did the things we are suppose to do."

Wilmington led 14-7 as they scored on their next two possessions after Pentucket's original score, and after they forced Pentucket to punt, Wilmington took over at their own 37, hungry for more. Tim Gillis' toss to Matt Minghella went out of bounds, but again Banda came up big with a 37-yard gain, as he too bounced off a few would-be tacklers for a first down at the P26. Two plays later, Gennetti ran in a beautiful 26-yarder, untouched, for his second touchdown of the game.

"The second one was a lot like the first one, it was an off-tackle run again, but this time I stepped back when I saw one of their players coming and went back out. But all of that wasn't me at all, that was the offensive line — they played unbelievable," Gennetti said.

Wilmington took an 20-7 lead at halftime and the second half was all theirs again. Banda and Tim Gillis scored the second half TD's to put the icing on the cake.

Wilmington will now gear up for Friday night's encounter with the 2-0 Newburyport Clippers. Almeida said, this should be a huge game and he feels as if both teams are very evenly matched up. He said if which ever team does what they are suppose to do, limit their penalties and turnovers, then they should come out on top.

Squirt A's continue impressive start

Wilmington's Squirt A hockey team started its 1997-98 season in outstanding fashion, winning the first three games and out scoring their opponents by an impressive margin of 20 goals to four. These first games are the start of a series of "parity round" games that the A's will play to determine which bracket they will be in for the year. The parity round gives Valley and Dual State League organizers an indication of the ability of local teams so that they can establish team groupings of equal talent.

Wilmington wasted no time in welcoming Newburyport to the parity round, besting them by a score of 4-1. This game was closer than the score implies with lots of great end-to-end play by both teams. Scoring for the Wildcats were Mark Giordano, Eddie "Edzo" Tucker, Robbie Peterson and Eric Ollila.

Last Friday night Wilmington met a tough Andover team in a Dual State League contest at Hockeystown. Fortunately, the Wilmington squad was even tougher and came away with a convincing 7-3 win. Notching goals for the A's were a speedy Timmy Aldrich, Zack Wilkins, Eric Ollila, Robbie Peterson, Kyle Browne, Scott Dunnett and Bobby Sinopoli. Such balanced scoring is the result of some super passing and is a great sign for this team's future success.

Sunday morning the team started the day right with a 9-0 shutout of Valley League foe Masconomet at Merrimack College. Making the scorer's sheet for this game were Kyle Browne (one goal, two assists), mark Giordano, Edzo Tucker, Robbie Peterson, Eric Ollila (two goals and one assist), Timmy Aldrich (one goal and three assists) and Zack Wilkins (two goals and one assist.). Again the large number of skaters involved in the goal scoring is an indicator of the unselfish play needed to win. Contributing with some great play and credited with assists were Scott Dunnett and Bobby Sinopoli (2).

In the person of Matt David, the Wilmington Squirt A's have an outstanding goalie "between the pipes." His 1.33 goals against average after three games is definitely a good omen and will certainly give the Cats' opponents something to think about. Looking sharp on defense in front of Matt for the Wildcat squad this year are Jackie Rideout, Mike McMahon, Eric Raposo and Kevin Velardo. They have all played aggressive, fast skating "D" and showed no rusty signs after the summer off. Steve Peterson also helped out on defense in Sunday's game with some nice play.

After Sunday's game Squirt A head coach Paul Wilkins commented "the team has shown some great effort and hustle; as a new team they play quite well together. They have been skating and passing very well for this early in the season. If they keep it up they should do quite well this year." The A's next Dual State League game is scheduled for Saturday 9/27 at 6:30 a.m. at Hockeystown. The next Valley League game is set for Sunday, September 28 at 10 a.m. against Beverly at the

Notables:

Shutout Mania

- Wilmington has shut out four opponents and they have four wins. Melissa Mather and Meredith Cipriani have combined for two of those, while, Cipriani has two by herself. Val Cwiekowski, another goalie, who is out for the season with an injury, blanked Methuen in the lone half she played.

Injured Reserved

- Injuries and illnesses keep piling up for the Lady Cats. Junior Kara Irving was out for the season before it began with a knee injury and just this past week, Arlene Muscufo (broken collarbone) and Cwiekowski (torn tendons in ankle) have found out they have been lost for the season as well. All injuries occurred playing soccer. Who ever said football was a dangerous sport?

The real numbers

- Junior Patrice Mendoza's goals against average is misleading. Technically, she has not let up a goal this season through seven games, the one that was scored on her, was not a goal, let's just say it was a bad call.

Total team effort

- Through seven games this season, eight different players have scored at least a goal. That's why they are undefeated.

Shawsheen Tech football

by Mike Burns

The Shawsheen Tech Rams were edged by the two time defending Division 5B Super Bowl champion Nantucket 25-21 in a non-league high school football game Friday at foggy Burnham O'Dell Field.

The season opener for the Rams was played in fog so thick that until the final minutes of the game, it was impossible to see the opposite side of the field and both goal posts were never visible. Despite the poor playing conditions, Nantucket scored late in the first quarter on a 15-yard run by Whaler Co-captain Travis Lombardi.

Midway in the second quarter, Shawsheen marched down the field showing a good mix of running and passing. Ram running back, Jim Goglia scored from the four yard line, but a holding call against Shawsheen removed the touchdown. Showing great grit, on the following play, James Brothers scored from the 9-yard line. The following P.A.T. was blocked, but recovered by the holder, Steve Dodge, who ran the ball in for a 2-point conversion.

Trailing 8-6, Nantucket scored with only :43 seconds left in the first half. The attempted two point conversion failed.

Opening the second half, trailing 12-8, the Rams marched again from their own 10-yard line with strong running by both Goglia and Brothers, with Jim Goglia scoring on an 18 yard run. Now leading, the Rams defense played extremely well, led by Dan McCarthy and Kevin Belanger forcing Nantucket to punt. Shawsheen again was moving well offensively when Shawsheen fumbled following a pass completion. However, the strong Ram defense again played well and forced another Nantucket punt.

As Shawsheen was again driving, Nantucket intercepted a Ram pass, and proceeded to move down the field for a go ahead touchdown. Trailing now 18-15, Shawsheen moved the ball well, however, a fumble following a pass completion was recovered by Nantucket who scored on a fine 44-yard run by Chris Gardner. Shawsheen quickly rallied and scored on a 35-yard pass from Ram QB Kevin Mendonca with only :34 seconds remaining in the game. The Rams on side kick failed.

Shawsheen's offense played extremely well. The games top rusher, James Brothers finished with 121 yards while Jim Goglia, despite severe leg cramps added 74 yards. Despite passing for over 100 yards, the three second half turnovers, two of which led to Nantucket scores, could not be overcome.

Shawsheen's next game is Saturday at 10:30 AM at Georgetown High School.

The Greater Outdoors Ahh, yes, another hunting season

by Ed Larkin

We are sitting on the threshold of another hunting season. By this time of year you should have sighted in your gun, practiced your shooting, and done some scouting. If, like most of us, life has gotten in the way of proper planning, you still have sometime to prepare for the upcoming season.

If your time is limited use your bird season as your scouting season. Many upland species find coverage in the same areas as the wily whitetails. Keep an eye out for scrapes, rubs, and game trails.

If you plan to hunt locally, you're going to have to hunt in the thick stuff. Soon after the start of hunting season the deer get into deep cover. The rut is always the exception; who knows what the deer will do?

The one thing you can't get around is the checking and sighting of your gun. The accuracy of your gun ensures safe, clean kills. It is always a good idea to practice your shooting before you go afield. This gives you confidence in your shooting and your firearm. Both the rifle range and shotgun field are ideal for pre-season warm up.

The best part of hunting is all the other things you get to experience while in the field. It is always wonderful to bag your game, but any day spent in the outdoors is rewarding. The bottom line is always be prepared for an emergency. Many an outdoor adventure has turned tragic because of lack of planning.

Anytime you go out to the field, make sure you tell someone where you are going and what time you will return. Always carry a survival kit. Your survival kit should contain at least the following items:

- A spare pocket knife
- A spare compass
- A plastic whistle
- Matches in a waterproof container
- A second fire making method
- Fire starter
- Water purification tablets
- Medication (if needed)
- First aid kit
- Drinking container
- Nylon cord
- Extra glasses (if you wear them)
- Sunglasses

These are all small items and fit easily in a waist pack. Some extra food and a space blanket provide an extra measure of comfort if you end up spending the night in the woods. If you have a cell phone, take it along. You might need to call someone to help you drag out a moose buck. Every hunter should take a basic first aid course as well as CPR.

Hunting for pheasant, ruffed grouse, and quail begins on October 18 and runs until November 29. The archery season for deer begins on November 3, shotgun on December 1 until December 13 and primitive firearm starts on December 15 and runs until December 20. This year's season is three days longer.

For more information pick up the Division of Fisheries & Wildlife Abstracts. It contains all the information on hunting dates, laws and locations. They are free of charge and can be picked up at the town hall or call the division at 617-727-3151.

The Quabbin Deer Hunt permits will be sent out to hunters chosen in the lottery by early next month. Antlerless permits are due out in October; if you applied for an Antlerless permit in zone 10 you got one.

Take these few weeks before the season and check your gear. Make sure to hunt in an ethical manner and report illegal or unsafe practices. With a little bit of planning you ensure a safe, productive season.

Girls under 12 take on Medford

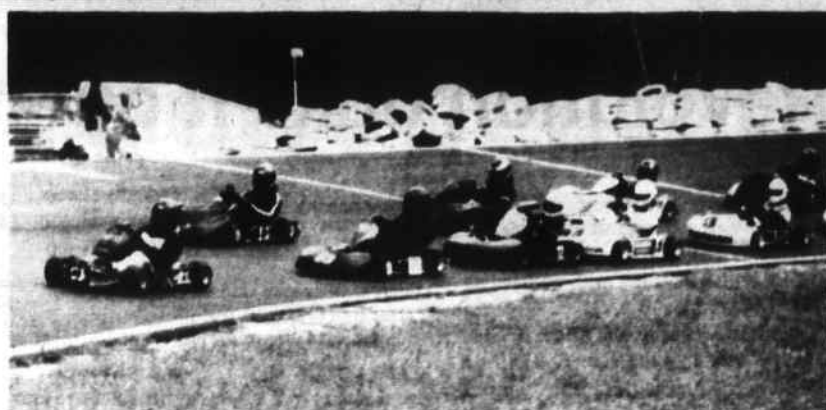

The Wilmington Girls Under 12 youth soccer team took on Medford in a hard fought contest this past weekend. From the start Wilmington pressured Medford with nice passing by Melissa Marques, Jackie Robarge and Kirsten Frizol.

However they were unable to set any good shots on goal. Denise Morel, Erin Dorrance and Kim Strazzere playing fullback were able to direct most attacks away from keeper Katie Marrasco. The first half ended in a 0-0 tie.

In the second half, Wilmington continued to push the ball in for the Medford defensive end. Finally Wilmington got a break when a shot on goal was knocked down by a Medford player's hand. Kelly Komenchuk took the penalty kick and blisted the shot high into the corner of the goal for a 1-0 lead. A few minutes later Erin Dorrance crossed the ball in front of Medford's goalie and Jackie Robarge playing perfect position, knocked the ball in for a 2-0 lead.

However, Wilmington play turned sloppy and Medford put the pressure on and was able to score with five minutes to go. The girls barely hung on and came away with a 2-1 win.

The Adult Kart Division, has been very busy as of late, as shown here.

Bruce Vieira, six years old, shows off his junior division race car that he uses for the quarter-midget division.

Wilmington Pop Warner continues winning success

A team (Wilmington K of C) Wilmington 8 Wakefield 6
George Godding scored on a 45-yard run.

Offensively Sean Moroney and Matt Collins did an excellent job blocking all day while Ryan Layton and Mike Herron ran very well out of the backfield.

On defense Dennis Sullivan, Chris Minghella and Jake Watroba all had strong games. The whole team played excellently as a unit offensively and defensively. Special thanks to the A-team cheerleaders and their coaches.

B team
Wakefield 12 Wilmington 6
Sean Layton scored on a 55-yard run from scrimmage. It was a tough battle from start to finish with time expiring with Wildcats on the Warrior three yard line.

Mike Jordan had a good game at offensive end with three receptions. Mike Harrison, Christian Devito and Brad Lawrenson had a tough battle all day running the ball.

On defense, Mike Robart, Mike Rideout, Dave Paris, Derek Cortouis all played well on the line while Stephen Crawford, Joe Downs and Ryan McIver took care of the defensive backfield.

C team
Wakefield 6 Wilmington 0
Time ran out on the C team as they were on the six yard line of Wakefield. Leading the offense with great runs were Derek Hanley, power runs by Brendan Marshall and Mike Cotto. Opening big holes were Bob Harrington, Jason Weiner, Dustin Cole, Chuck Courtois, Eric DeFava, Connor Moroney and Nick Gibson and Steve Powers.

Leading the defense, stealing the ball was Tim Coates and he almost scored with it. Also playing great defense were Brendan Warford, Alfredo Badolato, Andrew Terranova, Jeff Morgan, Mike Joves, Mike Miller and Pat McNeill.

D team
Wakefield 13 Wilmington 6
Bob Gillis scored.

Keith Hill made the catch to set up Wilmington's only score. The Wildcats went up and down the field all day but could not score.

Wilmington played solid defense, but penalties brought Wakefield even closer to allow them to get two touchdowns. Playing well on defense were Joan McDonough, Kyle Browne, Pat Maillet, Chris Pedi, Brad Hodgson and Kyle Nims.

E team white
Wilmington vs Wakefield
The E White Teams sponsored by Brady Roffing was led on offense by Jonathan Ryan, John O'Brien, Jonathan Kincaid and Antonio Diecrue.

On defense, the Cats were led by Kevin McDonough, Andrew Valente, Nicholas Robarge and Philip D'Arcangelo.

Wilmington vs Wakefield
The Wilmington E Team Blue capped off an exciting Sunday of football in their home opener against the might Warrior of Wakefield. The Wildcats' Timmy Cushing displaying his "all E Team speed" made a touchdown saving tackle on Wakefield's opening drive. The Blue defense led the gang tackling of Jeffery DeRose, Sean Murphy and newcomer David Ballue denied Wakefield the end zone with an inspiring goal line stand.

Wilmington's offense, taking its cue from the defense, responded on the very next play with Derek Fitzpatrick following the lead blocks of Joseph Gore and George D'Amelio by sprinting around the right end for a 96-yard touchdown run. The Wildcats, with the aggressive offensive line play of Greg Cirone, Danny Cole and Jimmy Bruce moved the football up the field several more times with crowd pleasing runs by Mike McPherson and Chris Welch.

Also contributing to the swarming Blue defense and creating two Wakefield turnovers were Shawn Powes, Lou Cimaglia and game Captain Cliff Hall. Special thank to the Blue E team cheerleaders, led by the thunderous cheering of Michelle St. Aubin and Margaret Sorrentino.

Adult Kart division

LONDONDERY, N.H. - Fall arrived this weekend, bringing with it the end of Londonderry's race season. Saturday night's rain and Sunday's cool temperatures changed track conditions, leaving drivers struggling for the right setup. "We were anticipating a lot of spins with the cool track and close points battles in some of the divisions. But the drivers did well and we had relatively few incidents," said Jack Thompson, infield manager and track promoter about this Sunday's racing. Although a special event has been planned for the end of October, this is the end of the points series in all divisions.

"Each year we tally the accumulated points for all races and discard the lowest points week for each driver. We have a few so close in points that we can't call it, until we go over all the figures," said Lisa Trombley, track scorer. Lisa keeps track of the driver's positions one each lap of both the heats and features, as points are awarded for both.

John Puglisi, with pit services, said "I think most of the point battles were fought off the track this week. We had several teams unhappy with the line-ups, but we just stuck to the track rules and most backed off. Racers and their teams are very competitive and will fight for that one last edge on and off the track."

The adult kart division saw a lot of action this week, with a difference of only four points for second, between Frank Holland and Gary Sherman, of Billerica. In the heat race Andy McGoo was able to take and maintain the lead until the last lap when he had problems on the backstretch, leaving him unable to finish the race. Track officials relined up the field for a one lap shoot out, and heated discussions on who should be where.

The feature was no less interesting, with Andy, Gary, Frank and Steve Mastine, the points leader, starting in the rear of the pack. Close side by side racing caused Gary to spin out in the third turn. This brought the field under caution near the halfway mark, and left Gary to fight his way back through the pack. In the end, Andy was able to take the lead with Steve in second and the points battle between Gary and Frank too close to call.

The Quarter Midget Junior Division saw its first collision this Sunday when Bruce Vieira from Chelmsford, and Chris King fought for the same line. The cars bumped coming through the third turn, sending them both side ways. Bruce was able to catch it, and continue on, but Chris was standing still as Dillon Puglisi rounded the corner. Dillon was able to avoid running into Chris and the all three were able to continue with Bruce in first, Chris in second and Dillon in third. This is Londonderry's youngest division, at ages five to seven, and they have had an excellent season.

Matt Riley, in the Junior kart Division was a little anxious to get started and jumped the green. Officials restarted the race with Matt taking the lead at the line. Jay Kenney of Wilmington was caught behind Bruce Gaspardi for several laps, but Jay waited patiently for his opening and made a clean pass, although not leaving him enough time to catch Matt. Jay was able to take second, finishing behind Matt and Bruce finishing third.

Londonderry track officials are gearing up for the last run before winter, "The Halloween Howler" scheduled for Sunday, October 26. The Howler will feature a 100 lap race for two cycle karts, a 590 lap for four cycle karts and a 30 lap for youth kart race. Awards will be given for first thorough fifth place in all divisions, with an estimated purse of $1000.00. For the young and young at heart Londonderry is planning a costume contest, trick of treat, and other ghoulish events.

Girls under 11A team blanks Burlington

WILMINGTON - On September 20, Wilmington's improving team work and passing skills delivered a 2-0 victory over Burlington, bringing the Girls Under 11A team to a 3-0-0 record.

In the first half, the Lady Wildcats displayed their developing possession skills that resulted in multiple shots on goal but no scoring. The second half proved more productive as Wilmington dominated the field and found the back of the net.

Five minutes in, Alicia Braid scored off a beautiful passing sequence by Jackie Rideout connecting to Sarah McGowan. Wilmington continued to bedevil Burlington's defense, including a series of plays where a corner kick set the offense to dancing around the penalty box area, delivering two crossbar hits and two other shots on goal within a minute's span.

The girls connected again late in the game, where a Burlington goal kick was stopped short and the final shot trickled through the keeper's gloves earning Sarah McGowan the goal and Jessica Alosco and Debbie Lyons assists.

Providing many scoring opportunities with midfielders Nicole Sauve and Teresa DeSimone. Keeper Stephanie Ramsdell and defenders Christina Smith and Amy McHale played key roles in deterring Burlington.

Bees a civilized swarm

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Beeswax, honey and other useful products as well as the beautiful flowers we see around us are all signs of the importance of the honeybee to our existence.

Yet, many people shy away from the busy flying critters that actually live a very civilized life inside of their hives. Some of the shyness is explainable as some people are deathly allergic to the sting of bees.

However, for the most part bees are harmless, unless they are provoked or think that the Queen or the hive is in danger.

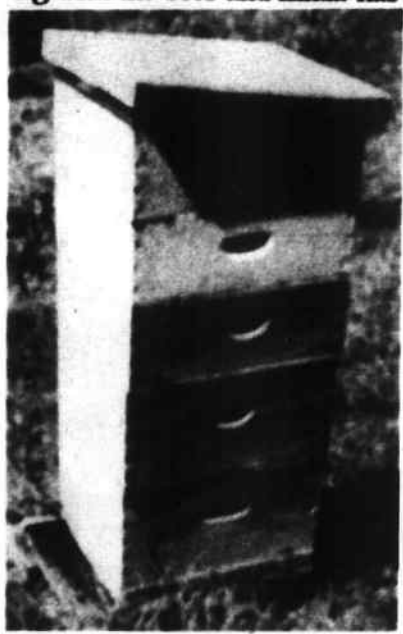

As the end of September, National Honey Month draws near we are stung with the thought of the importance of the insect that brings us the sweet, thick, amber colored liquid, that goes so well on scones or in tea or as a sweetener for many bitter products that we eat.

What goes on in that well protected beehive and what is the process that makes honey out of the nectar provided by flowers?

The people with the answers to these buzzing questions are Wakefield residents David and Linda Boucher. They have been beekeepers for over 30 years.

David has been the one playing with the bees and Linda has been taking their products such as the wax and honey and doing creative things with them. She has one several blue ribbons at the the Topsfield Fair and other expositions throughout New England.

THE BOTTOM TWO sections of this hive are the brew chambers where the nectar is turned to honey. The top sections are used for storage until the bees are ready to use the wax or the honey.

Linda also provided hours of educational enjoyment to the students in the Galvin Middle School with an observation hive. However, that came to an end when the science classroom was moved to a position away from windows.

David explained that the hive is a bee colony under glass.

Linda said, "It is connected by a tube to a window so that the bees can enter and exit it to the outside."

That access to the outside is critical to the bees. It is how they find the flowers that provides the pollen and/or nectar that eventually becomes honey.

The Bouchers have about 15 hives in various locations making them one of an estimated 200,000 hobbyists (25 hives or less) in the country. A part-time bee-keeper would have 25 to 299 hives.

According to the National Honey Council part-timers and hobbyists account for 50 percent of the bee hives and 40 percent of the extracted honey.

It is estimated that the 1996 honey crop averaged over 196 million pounds.

The Bouchers note that they provide other services beside the honey product they filter from the comb.

"Some people like pollination,

Approximately 50,000 to 60,000 worker bees work for a single queen bee in the hive assistance," David said.

This is provided when the bees are brought to a fruit orchard or vegetable garden and let loose.

In the process of gathering pollen for their own honey production, the bees inadvertently provide a cross pollination that allows for the plants to germinate and flourish. In the Northeast pollination assistance is provided to many apple growers as well as blueberry and cranberry growers.

The Bouchers are also the first people that are called by the Department of Public Works or the Police when local residents spot a swarm of bees that need to be removed.

The beeswax is secreted by the bees and is used in the formation of the honeycombs inside the hives. The beeswax starts out as a white substance and becomes yellowed with age.

It is this comb that the queen bee uses to lay the eggs in and where the eventual larvae are fed the pollen that starts the process of becoming honey.

Some of the beeswax is used to create a giant ball that stores honey for the future feeding of the bees that live during the winter.

A bee usually has a six week life span.

The Bouchers explained that in the fall many eggs are laid to provide enough bees for the start of the pollination season at

Boston Regional offers free Depression Screening Day

Boston Regional Medical Center (BRMC) will offer local residents the opportunity to learn about the signs and symptoms of depression and to participate in a free screening as part of National Depression Screening Day on Thursday, October 9 from 2 to 4 pm. The free program will be held in the hospital's cafeteria function rooms.

Participants at the BRMC Depression Screening will hear a brief talk on the causes, symptoms, and treatments of depression followed by a short video. Individuals will complete an anonymous written screening test for depression and have the opportunity to discuss the results with a mental health professional.

Depression strikes more than 17 million Americans each year, according to figures from the National Institute of Mental Health. Fewer than half of them, however, actually seek treatment even though treatment can help 80 percent of those affected. Common symptoms of depression include feelings of hopelessness, worthlessness, restlessness and irritability, changes in sleep and appetite, loss of energy and thoughts of death or suicide.

Individuals interested in attending the information and screening session should reserve a space by calling 617-979-7025.

New answers for macular degeneration

Macular degeneration, a deterioration of the central part of the retina known as the macula, affects an estimated 15 million Americans.

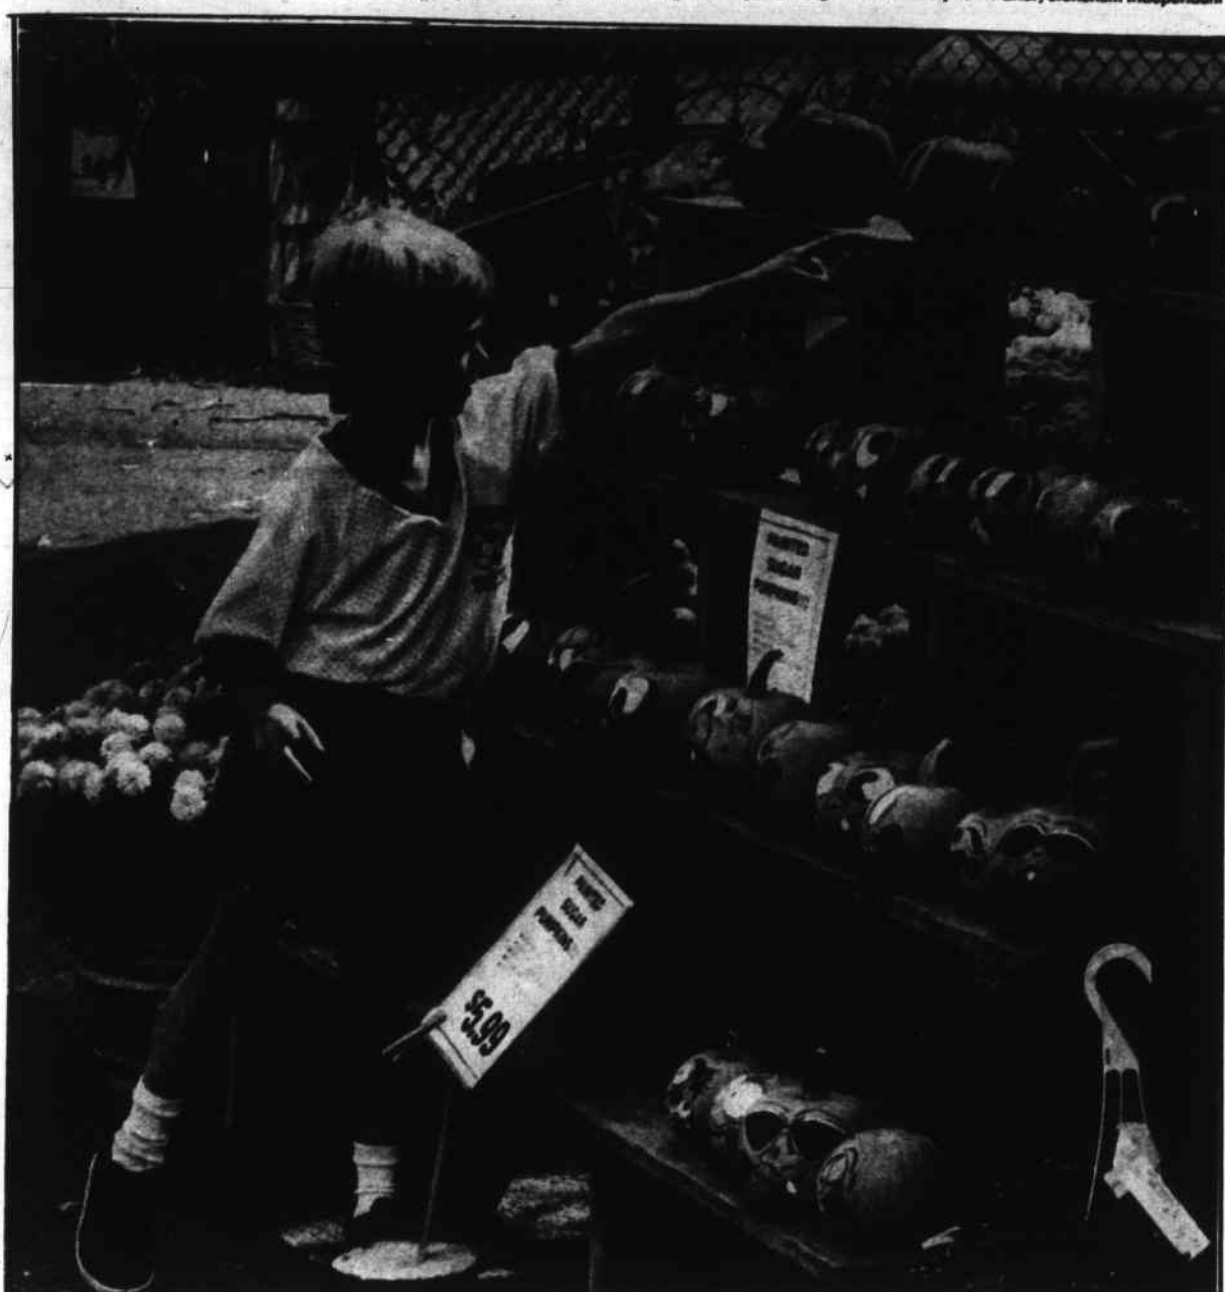

The macula is responsible for central vision and the ability to see detail, such as small print, facial features or small objects. When the macula is damaged, objects or parts of objects seem to fade or disappear.

Macular degeneration most commonly occurs in people over the age of 60, according to Dr. Bruce Rosenthal, chief of low-vision programs at The Lighthouse. But you shouldn't be complacent if you don't fall into that category.

Although laser treatment may be helpful for some individuals, there is no widely effective surgical or medical treatment for macular degeneration. However, much can be done through vision rehabilitation. Agencies such as The Lighthouse - a not-for-profit organization - offer a variety of services and products to help people with the disease.

Doctors can prescribe adaptive optical devices such as high-powered spectacles, magnifiers or telescopes. People can be taught safe travel techniques within their homes and outdoors.

For information about vision rehabilitation organizations in your area, or to request a free booklet about macular degeneration, call The Lighthouse at 1-800-334-5497.

Walk for Diabetes in October

This October, more than 1,500 area residents will gather at The Hatch Shell on the Charles River Esplanade. They will call their friends, neighbors and co-workers, gather sponsors and donations and slip on their sneakers to raise the funds for the American Diabetes Association. They will walk together proudly as part of the 7th Annual Walktoberfest, America's Walk for Diabetes.

America's Walk for Diabetes will take place October 4, from 10am to 1pm. The event is expected to raise more than $100,000 for research to find a cure for this serious disease.

"Diabetes is a devastating disease that touches us all," said

Jeff Hubbard, Executive Director of the Metro Boston American Diabetes Association. "The money raised by America's Walk for Diabetes will help fund research to find a cure and programs to improve the lives of people with diabetes," said Hubbard.

Increase in women's cancer

The incidence of four of seven types of cancer increased among women in Massachusetts from 1982 to 1994, a state Department of Public Health study has revealed.

The largest increase, 45 percent, was in the incidence of lung cancer. Breast cancer was second with an increase of 35 percent.

The incidence of melanoma, or skin cancer, rose 20 percent, and the incidence of uterine cancer was up 10 percent.

The incidence of cervical and colorectal cancers dropped 15 percent each. There was a 1 percent decrease in the incidence of ovarian cancer.

The increase in the incidence of lung cancer was attributed to an increase in smoking among women aged 46 to 57.

Gershman said the rate should begin to drop around 2000, when fewer women in that age group are expected to smoke.

Much of the increase in the reported incidence of breast cancer was attributed to better screening and reporting.

The increase in the incidence of skin cancer was attributed to changes in clothing styles and greater popularity of outdoor recreation.

Gershman said colorectal cancer can be detected early, but not enough women are having the test because it is invasive. (AP)

Physician-assisted suicide debate

Physician-Assisted Suicide: Should It Be Legal in the United States? is the question to be debated by ABC News Medical Editor Dr. Timothy Johnson and Dr. C. Everett Koop, who was Surgeon General in Ronald Reagan's administrations. The debate, sponsored by the Andover School of Montessori, will take place on Wednesday, October 8 at 7pm in the Cochran Chapel on the Phillips Academy campus in Andover.

Virtual reality used by surgeons to treat wrinkles

New custom software and computer technology allows plastic surgeons to transform CT and MRI data of actual patients into three-dimensional and stereoscopic images of bones and soft tissues, according to a study presented at the 66th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons (ASPRS), September 20-24 in San Francisco.

utilized standard physical data from the Virtual Man or Virtual Woman, models that have no deformities or injuries. This new custom software allows plastic surgeons to recreate three-dimensional high quality images of an actual patient's condition from CT and MRI data, showing the deformity or injury that needs to be repaired or changed.

The patient's actual bone and tissue images are incorporated

Perry Colmore, retiring editor of the Andover Townsman, will introduce the speakers and moderate a question and answer session to follow the debate.

Doctors Johnson and Koop will debate such issues as:

Should physicians ever be allowed to aid terminally ill patients in the dying process? Should we pass laws to make sure physicians are not prosecuted for such actions? Should it ever be permissible for physicians to aid patients in the dying process who are not terminally ill, but who are suffering from serious chronic disease? How does the recent Supreme Court decision effect the availability of physician assisted suicide in this country?

What does the Dutch experience teach us, pro or con, about legally-assisted suicide?

Tickets are $25 for general admission, and $100 for premier seating and a reception immediately following in the Addison Gallery of American Art on the Phillips' Andover campus where there will be an opportunity to meet and talk with Doctors Koop and Johnson.

Tickets may be purchased at the Andover Book Store and Andover School of Montessori, 400 South Main Street, at 508-475-2299

This new technology gives us an excellent perception of depth," said Stephen Schendel, MD, DDS, Professor and Head, Division of Plastic Surgery, Dept of Functional Restoration, Stanford University, and one of the authors of the study. "The resolution of the image is so high that we can see the indentations of small blood vessels and wrinkles in the skin."

While the surgical possibilities of virtual reality technology have been demonstrated in the past, the process has generally into a virtual environment with a three-dimensional display technology that the surgeon views through tracked shutter glasses. The images appear as realistic objects resting on top of the workbench.

Wearing a glove that translates natural hand gestures into virtual reality, the surgeon is able to use virtual surgical instruments to manipulate the soft tissues and bones. When a bone is moved, the overlying soft tissue also changes just as it does in an actual surgical procedure.

HORSLEY EYE CLINIC

Boston Regional Medical Center, 3 Woodland Road, Stoneham

The Summit Technology SRS (excimer) laser is approved to perform Photo-Refractive Keratectomy (PRK) for the correction of mild to moderate myopia (-1.5 to -6.0 diopters) in eyes with ≤ 1.5 diopters of astigmatism. Summit Technology's approval is based on clinical trials of more than 1000 eyes together with safety information through 3 years of follow up. Alternatives to PRK are contact lenses, eyeglasses and radial keratotomy. Studies using a 6 mm treatment zone in 541 eyes have found that at 6 months after treatment, uncorrected vision was 20/40 or better in 95% of eyes and 20/20 or better in 66% of eyes. In 7% of eyes, best corrected vision with eyeglasses declined more than one line with more than 20/40. Transient complications up to several weeks included pain (24-48 hours), corneal swelling, double vision, feeling something in the eye, shadow images, light sensitivity, tearing and pupil enlargement. The following adverse effects occurred in at least 1% of eyes within 6 months of treatment: night vision difficulty (1%), elevation of intraocular pressure (2%), haze covering vision (2%), overcorrection or became farsighted (3%), undercorrection or still nearsighted (6%), mild haze (10%), minor glare (10%). Long term risks of PRK, beyond three years have not been studied. This laser is not indicated to correct high myopia (nearsightedness > -7.0D), astigmatism, or farsightedness.

Coastal boating course

The Coast Guard Auxiliary unit will be conducting a new course, "Basic Coastal Navigation," starting Thursday, September 25 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 11 Sanborn St., Reading.

Experienced boaters, or those who have taken the basic Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadron course, are eligible to participate in this program.

Students will learn to plot courses allowing for set and drift, predict local time and height of tides, and learn how to use Loran and Radar to determine position and avoid collision.

Lessons will be held on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 pm beginning September 25 and ending November 15 with an exam and certificate of completion. Registration will be at the door on the first night; since space is limited we hope that those interested will be prompt.

A canal boat ride and a look at the Merrimack

On Saturday, September 27, the Middlesex Canal Association will sponsor a boat ride on the Merrimack River and the Pawtucket Canal in Lowell, combined with historical background on this early waterway. The tour is presented in cooperation with the National Park Service, who will be supplying the boats.

This event, the fifth in the celebration of the Bicentennial Decade of the Middlesex Canal, will focus on this competing canal, built by entrepreneurs of Newburyport to connect their village with the resources of New Hampshire by bypassing the 30-foot high Pawtucket Falls. As a shipping and boat-building center, Newburyport, like Boston, needed access to the interior, principally for timber.

In 1792, a year before the launching of the Middlesex

Canal, a Massachusetts corporation was formed that still exists today: The Proprietors of Locks and Canals on the Merrimack River. Its objective was to overcome restrictions to transportation on the river, such as falls and rapids.

Their first venture, the Pawtucket Canal, was completed in 1796 and operated with marginal success for twenty years, after which it became the nucleus of Lowell's waterpower network. Dave Dettinger will describe the origins of this canal and its construction, along with additional commentary by park service rangers.

The event will begin at 9:30 am at the Visitor Center Auditorium, with a trolley ride to the launch point. Reservations must be made in advance for the boat trip.

Velmure tribute September 30

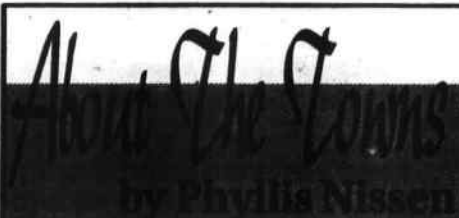

Exceptional wildlife art, sculpture, and photography as well as live animal presentations (courtesy of the New England Herpetological Society) and artists demonstrations will be featured at the upcoming Annual "Captured Wildlife Art Exhibition".

This special event is sponsored by The National Coalition for Early Childhood Professionals (NCECP), a nonprofit children's organization, and will be held on September 27 and 28 in the Stoneham Town Hall Auditorium. Adults and children are invited to enter original artwork. Pieces will be displayed to the general public on Saturday from 3-7 pm and on Sunday from 1-4 pm.

"We are especially pleased," remarked Janice Laskey (Event Chairperson), "to also include a special tribute to the late Bill Velmure at this year's event. A lifelong resident of Wakefield, Bill was an award-winning artist and photographer dedicated to wildlife conservation, education and teaching."

Prizes, judging and artists receptions will round out the festivities for both adults and children's entries. Entry forms are available in the area at the the Wakefield Co-Operative Bank, Public Libraries

(Wakefield, Stoneham, Reading, Melrose, Medford), Community Art Gallery and Frame King Express (both in Stoneham), and Artiste Shoppe and Gallerie in Reading. Questions about the exhibit or entering artwork may be directed by phone or fax to NCECP at 781-279-4658

Cove-ert operations?

Water quality testing

"It was test weekend on Lake Quannapowitt as volunteers collected water samplings from several areas to assure the water quality," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Most of the volunteers are from the Friends of Lake Quannapowitt (FOLQ). Friends Board member Richard Dennis said that this is the seventh year the group has conducted the tests."

"The possibility for contamination is there," Dennis said. "Weed growth and algae are a big problem now."

"Since 1991, the group has tested the waters in the Beebe

Cove area seven times a year, starting in mid-April and continuing monthly through October.

"FOLQ uses sampling and analytical methods based upon procedures recommended by the Massachusetts Water Watch Partnership (MWWP). That organization is a non-profit, privately funded group providing guidance to many groups concerned with the state of their lakes and ponds."

'Strong local support'

"The Friends receive the strong local support of the: Quannapowitt Yacht Club which loans its pontoon boat and a volunteer pilot; and the Wakefield Memorial High School that provides laboratory facilities and equipment so that the FOLQ analysts can perform many chemical analysis," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle" (please see above).

"Once the legal ramifications are cleared the Friends will also be receiving financial support for the testing from the Beal Companies. This will be done in conjunction with an agreement signed allowing for the construction of a four-story office building and adjacent garage."

"Under the agreement, Beal will provide $10,000 per year for five years and another $5,000 per year for 10 years to increase the amount of testing that can be done."

"According to Dennis, the offer is very good, but will Towns to S-8

Bees

the end of the winter and early spring.

Bees swarm around the wax balls that they have created and this provides them with the food they need.

A hive needs to retain about 60 percent of the honey it produces. The other 40 percent can be harvested by the beekeeper and turned into products such as the filtered honey that the Bouchers bottle.

The Council describes five different kinds of honey. They are:

-liquid honey, which is free of visible crystals. It is extracted from the honey comb by centrifugal force, gravity or straining. This is the convenient type of honey that is used to sweeten many foods;

-creme or spun honey is brought to market in a finely crystallized state. At room temperature the honey can be spread like butter;

-comb honey comes just as it was produced, in the comb. Both the comb and the honey are edible and many people enjoy the bits of wax;

-cut comb honey has the comb cut up into chunks; and

-honey varietals - the color and flavor of honey differ depending on the bees nectar source. The Council states that over 300 unique kinds of honey are produced in the United States. They originate from such diverse floral sources as alfalfa, basswood, buckwheat, clover, orange blossoms, sage and others.

The Bouchers note that the color of the honey can be determined by the color of the pollen that the bees bring back from the various flowers.

Most of it is yellow. However, this Fall the Bouchers' bees have been bringing back an orange colored honey which will affect the color of the final product.

According to the Council, honey is composed of fructose, glucose and water. It also contains trace enzymes, minerals and amino acids.

The Council states, "In general, lighter colored honeys are characterized by a mild flavor; darker honeys have a stronger flavor."

The honey bees are a very social insect with a marked division of labor between the different types of bees that inhabit the colony.

The queen is the only sexually developed female in the hive. The largest of the bees she may lay as many as 3,000 eggs per day. The queen can be easily observed because it has a big black bald spot on its back. Other female bees are covered with hair to help in the pollen gathering process.

Drones are male bees and do not have stingers. Their sole purpose is to mate with the queen. Because they do not collect any pollen or nectar the drone would be the first to be kicked out of the hive if a food shortage occurs.

The worker bees are the smallest bees and although they are females they do not have any sexual activity. A colony can be made up of 50,000 to 60,000 workers.

They do various jobs from collecting the pollen to feeding the queen and the larvae. Many of them guard the hive and provide the air-conditioning.

This is done by having quite a few of them gather at the entrance to a hive and just fan their wing muscles. This provides an air current that will cool off the combs and storage areas on a hot, summer day.

Anybody interested in beekeeping can get in touch with the Essex County Beekeepers, located on the Topsfield Fairgrounds in Topsfield.

Dave Boucher said, "Bee keeping, in itself is an excellent hobby. Due to the fact that I am a procrastinator and I do not have to do anything on schedule."

He notes that a starter kit can be purchased from supply houses and consists of deep hive body or brew chamber, a veil, gloves, smoker, and hive tools.

Bees can be ordered through mail order and will be delivered to a central distributing point for pick-up.

One interesting fact, the Bouchers have to take into consideration is that they will be moving around the corner from where they presently live. Because the new property is less than three miles from their present location, they have to send the bees to a third location for a three week period.

If they were to just move the bees to the new location, they would return to where the hives used to be even though the hives were no longer there.

Stoneham extension program offers numerous courses

Stoneham High School plans to continue this year with the Extension School Program which began last winter. This program offers students who have left high school an opportunity to earn graduation credits through late afternoon classes.

Known as the Stoneham High School Extension School, classes will be offered in English, Social Studies, Mathematics, and Science in three terms during the 1997-98 school year. The first term will begin on Monday, September 29 and go through Thursday, December 4. The second term will begin on December 15, and the third term on March 23. Students may take a minimum of one course and a maximum of four courses.

Students taking four courses per term may earn ten credits for each term towards graduation. Classes will be held at the high school, with each course meeting once per week from 3 to 6:15. Tuition for Stoneham residents is set at $100 per class or $300 for four classes per term. The fee for out-of-district students is $150 per course or four courses per term for $500. There is also a one-time registration fee of $25.

High School Principal, Thomas Ryan, feels that this program is ideal for the person who left school during his/her senior year and now wants to earn graduation credits. Former Stoneham students would earn credits toward a Stoneham diploma. Students from other towns would earn credits toward a diploma from the high school they last attended. Potential students should call Stoneham High School and request an Extension program brochure (279-3810).

ORCHID SALE AT LYMAN ESTATE

In October, the Lyman Estate Greenhouses burst into bloom as hundreds of orchid plants unfurl their beauty. Visit on Saturday, October 4 and Sunday October 5, from 10am to 4pm to celebrate the peak blooming period of these exotic plants.

Come linger in the special surroundings of the antique greenhouses built by wealthy Boston Merchant Theodore Lyman to accommodate his fascination with tropical plants. Inhale the perfume of the scented cattelyas and admire the particular beauty of the laelias, oncidiums and phalenopsis.

Wide-ranging explorers first brought orchids to England from Central and South America and Asia in the late 1700's and early 1800's. Shortly thereafter, orchids began to be imported into the United States by Botanical collectors fascinated by this diverse plant family. These brilliant beauties continue to encourage an enthusiastic following as their culture has become less demanding. No longer is a green house required as this most adaptable of species can be grown in a variety of home conditions.

The Lyman Estate Greenhouses are located at 185 Lyman Street in Waltham. To reach the Estate, take route 128 to exit 27A, Totten Pond Road; follow Totten Pond Road to the end and turn right onto Lexington Street; take a left on to Beaver Street and continue to the Estate at the rotary. For further information, please call 617-991-4882 ext. 244.

LAUGHTER ON THE 23RD FLOOR

Merrimack Repertory Theatre opens its 19th season with Neil Simon's newest comedy LAUGHTER ON THE 23RD FLOOR.

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

Austin Preparatory School Athletic Director recently introduced Burlington native and Austin Prep graduate Bill Flanagan (Class of 1985) as the eighth head coach of the Cougars hockey program.

"This was a goal I set for myself when I began coaching after college," said Flanagan. "This is a very exciting challenge. I look forward to the opportunity to come back and coach my alma mater. I still can't believe it. It's like a dream come true."

Flanagan is one of a very

This somewhat autobiographical play depicts Simon's experience as a television writer and features a cast comprised of this region's most talented comic actors.

LAUGHTER ON THE 23RD FLOOR begins previews on September 26, opens September 29 and runs through October 18 with performances Wednesday through Sunday. Ticket prices range from $15 to $29 and may be purchased at the box office. The theatre is located at 50 E. Merrimack Street in Lowell.

In the 1950's Sid Caesar's television program Your Show of Shows assembled what was perhaps the greatest collection of comedy writers to ever come together in one room. A young Neil Simon was one of a select group which included Mel Brooks, Mel Tolklin, Carl Reiner, and Larry Gelbart.

LAUGHTER ON THE 23RD FLOOR gives us a glimpse of what really went on in the writers' room of one of America's favorite TV shows in what the New York Times calls "Simon's funniest play ever."

Tickets for LAUGHTER ON THE 23RD FLOOR may be purchased at the Merrimack Repertory Theatre box office, 50 E. Merrimack Street, Lowell or by calling 978-454-3926. Performances are Wednesday through Sunday and ticket prices range from $15 to $29. A few Rush Seats may be available a half price one hour prior to curtain.

small handful of four-year varsity letter winners in ice hockey at the Catholic Central League and Division 1 contender, which is located in Reading. Flanagan was a four-year starter at forward from 1981 until 1985 known for discipline and defensive prowess. He put up career numbers of 26 goals and 35 assists for 61 points, and his senior stats of 15 goals and 17 assists earned him First Team Catholic Conference All-Star status.

After graduating from Austin Prep, Flanagan prepped for college for one year at the Canterbury School in Connecticut, and then was a four-year Division 1 player at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He founded the Flanagan Hockey Schools, held throughout eastern New England, and his scholastic coaching career includes a five-year stint at Lawrence Academy (Groton) where he was the junior varsity coach for one year and assistant varsity coach for the past four seasons, which includes two ISL championships and over 90 wins.

Flanagan replaces Jim Randazza, whose four year record was 33-40-10, and included two straight appearances in the MIAA Division I state tournament.

THIS WEEK'S MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS TRIVIA QUESTION - After retiring as a player, with what team did baseball great Babe Ruth spend one year as a coach? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Former Reading High quarterback JIM MURPHY, who currently guides the Northeastern University offense, had what you might call a career day on Saturday against the University of Rhode Island - threw for 330 yards and three touchdowns (just 15 yards shy of an NU record) in a 41-13 shellacking of the Scarlet Knights. Murphy connected on 19 of 26 passes, as the Huskies racked up a total of 586 yards.

The Bay State Bandits AAU baseball team will be holding tryouts for the 1998 14-year-old team on Sunday, September 28, from 10 am until 1 pm at Curry College Field in Milton. This team will compete for the right to represent New England at the national tournament this summer. Call Mike Hynes at 1-508-359-5584 for more information.

Need a clue or two to help solve the trivia mystery? The team, in its current incarnation, is involved in a dogfight for a playoff spot in the National League.

Boys and girls youth basketball teams from this area are invited to enter the eighth annual New England Tapoff Tournament, which will be held at several sites in Massachusetts during the month of November.

All teams play four games under the tournament's round robin format, and all games are officiated by Massachusetts IAABO officials.

There are openings for girls and boys teams in grades 5,6,7,8 and 9. Teams on all levels of ability are welcome. Efforts are made to match teams on the same ability level.

Each year the 200-team field includes teams from all six New England states, plus New York. All entries are accepted on a first-come basis.

The following is a list of sites and dates:

- Nov. 9 and 11 at Reading - Fifth grade boys, sixth grade boys, sixth grade girls;
- Nov. 15-16 at Reading - Seventh grade boys, seventh grade girls;
- November 28-30 at Wheaton College - seventh grade boys, eighth grade boys, eighth grade girls;
- November 28-30 at Assumption College - Sixth grade girls, eighth grade girls;
- November 28-30 at Medway - Fifth grade girls, sixth grade boys, ninth grade girls.

Registration is now underway for all tournaments. For more information call 508-533-2271 any day between 10 am and 3 pm.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The team that Babe Ruth spent one year coaching after retiring as a player was the Brooklyn Dodgers, which he guided in 1938. Congratulations to those who answered the question correctly, and look for this space next week to find another sports-related trivia question.

Towns From S-5

require more on the part of the Friends.

"Now that we are doing more testing", Dennis said, "we will need more volunteers."

Volunteers: dive in!

"He expressed his hopes that anybody that uses the Lake whether from Reading or Wakefield, will offer to help," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle" (please see above).

"If you wish to be a volunteer on any of the future testing missions call Dennis at 245-6422 or Jim Murphy at 246-2217.

"According to Dennis, the testing that has been done to date is not large enough to solve any contamination problems but FOLQ has been able to assure that the lake has enough alkalies to neutralize any acidity that may start to destroy the water.

"The lake, Dennis said, has a good news bad news situation in the fact that the algae that grows in it, which is fertilized because of pollutants, produces oxygen that keeps the lake alive. However, when the algae dies the waste eats up the oxygen very quickly.

"Dennis also noted that the town helps to keep the algae in control with the use of a water-travelling weed harvester that collects the weeds before the growth can starve the water.

"Another help from the town is weekly testing that is done by the Board of Health and the water division of the Department of Public Works. That testing is to assure that the coliform bacteria count does not get too high in the area of Colonel Edward Connelly Beach.

"Dennis asks that residents in the Lake Quannapowitt Watershed area, refrain from the overuse of lawn fertilizers and car washes. He notes that both of these activities can cause polluting nutrients to wash into the lake."

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

'Extremely pleased'

'Doing something right'

"Caught up in the end of summer activities, it may have been easy to miss the article on the recent release of the results of the statewide grade three reading test," noted Dr. David Troughton, North Reading Superintendent of Schools in a "Back to school letter to students and parents," via the "North Reading Transcript" in anticipation of opening day.

"The results of the first statewide reading program were buried in the middle of... [the] Boston Globe. As Superintendent, I am extremely pleased with the results. When compared with approximately 120 school districts within Route 495, the performance of North Reading third graders fell within the top five. This is another piece of evidence that demonstrates our schools are doing something right. Congratulations on the excellent performance of our students and thanks to all of our staff who work to provide quality education in our classrooms. This is a nice bit of news with which to start a new school year..."

New ideas and faces

"As with past years, the summer months have been extremely busy for North Reading staff and schools," notes Dr. David Troughton (please see above).

"Throughout the summer, over 80 staff members were engaged in various curriculum projects and training programs, including world languages, math, spelling, technology, music, social studies, and science. The School Department's Professional Development Program provides teachers with the opportunity to learn new teaching skills, revise curriculum, and plan new programs.

"Many new faces will appear in September. Throughout the summer, administrators, department chairs, and teachers have interviewed candidates for teaching positions at the elementary, middle and high schools, all of which are needed to fill vacancies as a result of retirements, leaves, resignations, or enrollment increases. All of the new staff members will participate in a New Teacher Orientation Day prior to the opening of school. Two of our new staff members have already begun their responsibilities. Mrs. Pamela Christodoulo, the new Principal at the Batchelder School, has had a full summer meeting with staff, parents and students. All of the Batchelder students and parents will have an opportunity to meet Mrs. Christodoulo through a series of grade-level picnics. Mrs. Virginia Warn, Director of Curriculum and Educational Technology, has just arrived. During the next few weeks, Mrs. Warn plans to meet with administrators, department chairs, and staff. As Director of Curriculum and Technology, Mrs. Warn will have major responsibilities with overseeing North Reading's curriculum and technology planning. We welcome Mrs. Christodoulo, Mrs. Warn, and all the new teachers, paraprofessionals, and custodians who will join our staff. North Reading is a wonderful place to teach and work."

'Major news'

"The major news of the summer is the renovations and additions at the E. Ethel Little School and the installation of the modular classrooms at the L.D. Batchelder School," notes Dr. David Troughton (please see above).

"Construction at the Little School has continued at a feverish pace. Each week throughout the summer, I toured the school and was amazed at its transformation. While the school will be ready to receive students on opening day, work at the Little School will continue throughout the fall and full completion of the project is not expected until spring. The Little School Principal and Staff will be in close communication with parents concerning progress on this project. A huge thank you is due to the Little School staff, especially the custodians, for the tremendous effort given in preparing for opening day. When completed, not only the Little School community, but all of North Reading will be proud of our newly renovated and expanded school....

"On a more modest scale, the addition of four modular classrooms at the Batchelder School has provided significant relief in overcrowding. The new classrooms will be occupied by the three grade five classrooms and the resource room. Music and art will also be relocated to regular classrooms within the building, freeing up space in the cafeteria. Space for class projects, science education, and conferences will also be provided...."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

ANTHONY MANCONI

I remember when my Aunt Nora and her Garden Club Members went on a pilgrimage to Rome. It was led by Aunt Nora's Grand Uncle, Father Jeremiah Murphy. When the plane was over the Atlantic Ocean, the Stewardess said to Father Murphy, "the pilot told me to tell YOU that some of the indicator lights have konked out. He doesn't want to alarm the passengers so, he suggests you do something religious." So, Father Murphy started a Bingo Game.

Dennis Tully's teacher asked him, "Dennis what do you expect to be when you graduate High School?" Dennis who was trying to work out an Algebra problem signed and replied, "about 37 years old Miss Cole."

Chris Corbelle said, "A Bachelor is a man who never made a mistake 'ONCE'."

George Gould went on a Garlic Reducing Diet and LOST all of his friends both of them.

O'KAY SPORT FANS, can you name a man who played for the Red Sox, Celtics and the Bruins? Give up? It was the late great organist, "John Kiley."

I made the mistake of falling in love with a dimple and marrying the whole girl.

Folks, "SMILE," because LIFE won't wait.

Kathy wears nothing but Saks Fifth Avenue Clothes and I can only afford suits from "SACKS" from the POTATO Fields of Maine.

Sid Levine my Chelsea Correspondent told me that he knows a woman who has cremated her third husband. "Gee Sid," I said, "some women can't find even ONE and this woman has had HUSBANDS BURN!"

Why are some people complaining about inflation? After all Folks, we can still get a dollar for four quarters just like during the depression of the '30's.

I can't help but figure out that politicians must be wonderful people. They spend thousands of dollars to get elected, just so they can HELP US!

At a recent Boston Naval Shipyard Reunion held at the Officer's Club, I asked a pretty young lady walking by my table, "are you going to the ladies Room?" "Yes," she said, I told her "use my name and you'll get a good seat." The next morning I tried to explain to Kathy where and why I got this beautiful Black Eye.

I asked Sonny Pearlman, why do you talk to yourself? Sonny replied, "because I like to talk to someone INTELLIGENT."

The insurance adjuster asked Howie Murphy, "when did you discover that your roof was leaking?" "Last night," Howie replied, "when it took me two hours to finish my soup."

Sonny Pearlman has a Bumper Sticker on his car that says, "We're staying together for the sake of the dog."

Folks, we may be able to understand or speak only one language BUT please remember we ALL SMILE in the SAME LANGUAGE.

Many people have to use their hands when they speak. Do you want proof? O'Kay, ask someone to describe a "Spiral Stairway." I'll bet the person asked will start whirling a finger around and around as he or she talks.

My cousin Mario DiMino explained to me why he has the pictures of his four young boys on his desk. "Chipper," he said, "whenever I think I'm having a real rough day, I look at the pictures and I KNOW my wife Mary is having a MEGA WORSE DAY at home."

"This is your floor son," the elevator operator said, "Why do you call me Son?" Blackie Vega asked. The gentleman smiled and replied, "Well, I brought you UP didn't I?"

Folks, it's GREAT to have a sense of HUMOR, because without humor a person travels on the road of life like a WAGON with "SQUARE WHEELS."

Bob Butler asked me, "Chipper how many men does it take to change a light bulb at the Woburn Elks?" "Four," I said, "Bobby Burns to hold the bulb and, Jimmy Quinno, George Poole and Richy Harris to turn the stepladder."

Father Tom announced, "We will now take up the collection, will the person who has been putting buttons into the collection basket PLEASE put his own buttons and NOT those from the pew cushions."

A "Bigamist" is a person who made the first Mistake TWICE.

I was just thinking that the EARLY BIRD would never catch the Worm if the stupid worm slept LATE.

I remember when my father

Most asked questions about college aid

To help ease some of the anxiety that comes with coping with college costs that can top $75,000 for four years of private college and $35,000 for public universities, Sallie Mae offers answers to some of the most frequently asked questions about financial aid.

Question: Can you apply for financial aid even before you know which colleges have accepted you?

Sallie Mae: You can and you should. Very often decisions about who receives financial aid are made on a first come, first served basis, so it's important to asked me, "What are they teaching you in school Chipper?" "Well today," I said, "we tried to find out what 'X' equals in Algebra." "For crying out loud!" my father exclaimed, "haven't they found out yet? The teacher asked me that 50 years ago, when I went to school!"

YESTERDAY is HISTORY. TOMORROW a MYSTERY. WE'RE thankful for, TODAY a GIFT from God it's called the PRESENT.

get your applications for aid in early. Colleges have different filing deadlines. Be sure to submit your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), before the earliest deadline date of the colleges you are considering. Because the FAFSA requires your family's year end earnings statement, however, you won't be able to submit the forms until January.

About a month after submitting the FAFSA, you will receive a report that tells you your Expected Family Contribution (EFC). Your EFC will determine your eligibility for federal student aid programs and some colleges will award state and institutional aid based on it. The financial aid office at the colleges where you are accepted will verify the information and then send you a financial aid award letter about the types of aid (grants, loans, work study) they make up your aid package.

Federal PLUS Loans PLUS (Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students) is just what the acronym suggests: a loan taken out by parents to pay for their child's undergraduate education. Unlike Stafford loans, PLUS loans can cover the entire cost of the student's education, less other aid received. Parents who are U.S. Citizens are eligible for PLUS loans, providing they have no adverse credit history.

Federal Perkins Loans a low interest loan (5%) for students which is administered by the student's college. Perkins loans are need based, with priority offered to federal Pell Grant recipients. For undergraduate students, the maximum loan amount for Perkins loans is $3,000 per year; $5,000 per year for graduate students. The repayment term is up to 10 years.

Ten Myths Home Sellers Still Believe... That Are Costing Them Thousands.

With the real estate market recovering from the "crash" of the late 80's and early 90's, many homeowners are capitalizing on the equity in their home, and putting up the for sale sign. For most, the home purchase was the largest and most important transaction they made.

But, if you're selling for a profit, and most are, THIS is your biggest transaction!!! It needs to be handled with at least as much care if not more. With a rush to liquidate in a booming market, potential sellers continue to make costly mistakes, most of which can be avoided with little effort. Volumes of information are available to all, but most people don't have time to weed through the facts, figures and statistics.

Getting the dishwasher to work

Q: We rarely use our GE dishwasher (once every six to eight months). Recently we decided to run it in order to keep the seals from drying out because the water that normally stands in the bottom of the tub overloaded.

To correct this, remove the standing water at the bottom of the tub using a turkey baster. Then dissolve 2 ounces of citric acid crystals (available from drug stores, hardware stores or and turn the motor. Grip these blades with your fingers and "walk" them around. Turn one blade down, then grip the next one and turn it down. Keep turning until you feel the fan blades snap free.

Now reinstall the access panel and reconnect the power. Fill the detergent cup with citric acid crystals as you would with detergent but don't put any dishes in the machine. Run the dishwasher through a wash cycle. The citric acid crystals will dissolve the remaining scale on the seals.

To prevent this from happening again, you might try running the machine with citric acid after long periods of disuse.

Your Home: Q&A

had evaporated. The dishwasher filled with water and the heating element worked, but the motor would not run - it would just hum.

A: The water probably evaporated because the dishwasher was not used for a long period of time. The minerals that are left after the water evaporates, combine with detergent residue and grow into a very hard crust on the face of the seals inside the pump assembly. The crust is sometimes referred to as scale.

This crust causes the seals to stick together, and this prevents the motor from turning. The dishwasher will fill with water, but won't go into the wash cycle because the motor is stuck. Instead, the motor heats up and clicks off when GE parts centers) in 2 cups of hot water.

Pour the mixture over the sump cover, and let soak for 20-30 minutes. It should be able to dissolve the crust in that amount of time. Latch the door and start the machine through a cycle. If the motor doesn't start, you will have to turn it by hand. Disconnect the power to the dishwasher, and remove the lower access panel by removing the Phillips head screws in the corners. Use a flashlight and look under the machine to find the motor. The right side of the motor is bullet shaped. The left side of the motor next to the pump assembly, has some air holes through which you can grip its L-shaped fan blades
